REPUBLICANS HOLD CONGRESS CONTROL

FULL CONTROL OF STATE IN HANDS OF PROGRESSIVES

GOVERNOR BLAINE WILL HAVE ALL STATE DEPARTMENTS ALLIED WITH HIM AFTER JANUARY 3, 1923

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9—The government of Wisconsin will be turned over to the LaFollette Progressive Republicans on January 3, 1923 for a two year trusteeship, granted November 7 by an overwhelming majority of the voters of the state.

This trust was expended to the political forces led by Gov. J. J. Blaine, on a pledge from them that marked changes would be made in the state tax laws, that strict economy would be practiced in governmental affairs and that some action would be taken to relieve farmers from their present financial burdens.

The inauguration on January 3 will bring LaFollette candidates into every state office, while one week later a legislature, both houses of which are claimed by the administration to be favorable to it, will meet to enact into law the recommendations of the governor.

It is not thought that a formal inauguration ceremony will mark the passing of the old order and the assumption of power by the LaFollette Republican faction in three of the state offices. The precedent established by Gov. E. L. Philipp, who abandoned formal inauguration exercises after his first term, is expected to be followed by Governor Blaine.

Has Complete Control

The incoming executive will commence his second term with an endorsement of the people such as few other governor's ever received. During his next two years he will gain control of practically all administrative positions through exercise of his appointive power.

Lieut. Gov. Comings, re-elected for a second term, will again preside over the senate whose close division between administration and anti-administration factions is likely to make his position one of unusual importance.

Fred R. Zimmerman, the new secretary of state for Wisconsin will replace Elmer S. Hall, another LaFollette supporter who was not a candidate for re-election. Mr. Zimmerman is coming to the state capitol for the first time, one of the members of the victorious Progressive Republican ticket.

Levitan for Johnson

Henry Johnson, after five consecutive terms as state treasurer, will retire to his farm on the first Wednesday in January to make way for Solomon Levitan, the new treasurer. Mr. Levitan was elected to office on his third try for the state treasurership on the LaFollette Progressive Republican ticket.

Herman L. Ekern, former insurance commissioner and La Follette favorite, steps into the Attorney General's office to succeed Attorney General William J. Morgan, who will retire from public life to take up the practice of law in Milwaukee. Mr. Ekern is entering an office which has served in past years as a stepping stone to higher political positions.

Appoint Commissioners

These officers heading large state departments will be supplemented by a number of commissioners appointed early in the year by Governor Blaine. Appointments will give the LaFollette forces control of practically every important administrative department.

Despite the failure of the administration to elect a state senate with a majority politically allied with it, Governor Blaine is of the opinion that he will have control of the upper house of the legislature as well as of the assembly. He expects that one or two senators previously allied with the anti-administration element will turn their political complexion during the coming session.

Apparently two socialists have been elected in Milwaukee county, giving this party a representation of three in

Benefit Moving Picture At Auditorium Nets $100

"Nanook of the North" the benefit moving picture given at the Port Edwards auditorium last week under the auspices of the S. & R. club of Port Edwards, netted $100 which will be used for welfare work in the community, according to the report of officers of the organization today.

Street Car Poles Arrive; Service Will Open Soon

The poles to be used in carrying the street car trolley across the bridge, after a delay of nearly a month, arrived in the city today and officials of the street car company are planning to have them in place and the line across the river ready for service in the shortest possible time.

It is expected that it will take several days to erect the poles and to string the trolley wire, but if no unforseen difficulties are encountered street car service to the Wood County bank corner should be inaugurated some time next week.

The poles were ordered from a Youngstown, Ohio, steel company as soon as it became known that the car line was to be extended, and they were shipped over a month ago. Interference in transportation caused by the railroad strike and congestion of traffic at big railroad centers is believed to have been the cause of the delay.

The new poles were built to order and are designed to harmonize with the bridge so as to interfere as little as possible with the dignity and simplicity of the structure.

LOCAL BANKS ASK REFUND OF TAXES

CITY MAY BE REQUIRED TO PAY BACK NEARLY $12,000 COLLECTED IN CAPITAL STOCK TAX.

A petition for the refund of close to $12,000 in taxes, alleged to have been illegally collected upon the capital stock of the three local banks last year by the city of Wisconsin Rapids, was presented to the city council last night by the three banks in behalf of their stockholders. The personal property tax upon the capital stock of national banks has been held illegal by Wisconsin and United States courts, and it is the belief of the bank stockholders that they are entitled to recover for taxes paid last year. One of the three Wisconsin Rapids banks is said to have paid the tax under protest.

The petition was referred to the city attorney and the Board of Public Works for consideration. If as is alleged by the bank stockholders, they are entitled to the refund, the city will have no alternative but to pay and avoid the expense of legal action through which collection would undoubtedly be forced. Cash to make the payment would have to come from the city's general fund.

No Tax This Year

In connection with the petition for the refund of taxes for last year a resolution was introduced by Atty. B. R. Goggins, representing the three banks, to have the assessments on the capital stock of the banks cancelled from this year's tax roll. Mr. Goggins pointed out that the tax had been illegal, and that any court would grant an injunction to prevent collection if any such attempt was made. He pointed out that the legal exemption granted the capital stock of national banks merely placed banks on an equal basis with other commercial institutions and was in no way a discrimination in their favor.

Upon the advice of the city attorney the resolution was adopted.

Mill Seeks Refund

Further financial complications for the city appeared later when a petition for a refund of over $2,000 in income taxes paid by the Consolidated Water Power and Paper Company came up for consideration. The company alleges that personal property taxes paid by the company on certain of its out of town property was not offset against its income tax payment. City Attorney Jeffrey explained that the petition must be sent to the state commission at Madison for its approval before any action can be taken. If the petition is granted the city will only be required to pay the amount of the tax which it received, the balance being made up by the state and county.

London, Nov. 9—The situation in Constantinople was described as "somewhat easier" in a message received today today by the war office.

BOGIE'S LEAD IS SWELLED WITH THE LATER PRECINCTS

ALL BUT EIGHT TOWNS HAVE REPORED SHOWS VICTOR IN SHERIFF'S RAC LEAD IS GROWING

With all but eight of the forty three precincts heard from in Tuesday's election, Jas. A. Bogie, successful candidate for Sheriff has a lead of 729 votes over Will A. Cole, Vesper, Independent candidates. James R. Lynch, independent Socialist candidate received a total of 372 votes with the same number of precincts still to be heard from.

Final Returns Friday

Final returns on the vote in Wood County will be received by County Clerk Sam Church sometime late today from the eight outlying precincts in towns most remote from this city. These towns especially Lincoln and Richfield are expected to show heavy vote but are said by Bogie supporters to have been carried strongly by the local candidate and it is doubtful that the final returns when compiled will reduce the lead which Bogie now has.

Many Straight Ballots

Official tally sheets showed that, in practically every precinct, with the exception of a few, that the straight Republican ballot was cast in overwhelming numbers. Cole, who made a good race for the office demonstrated his strength throughout the county by polling a heavy vote in the county against the natural tendencies of a straight Republican vote, which is normally a very strong Republican county.

45 Degrees Was Temperature Recorded Here Wednesday

The temperature here yesterday was 45 degrees, according to Geo. T. Nixon. Last year on the same date it was 35 degrees. The warmest Nov. 8 on record here was 59 in 1903 and 20 in 1912 was the coldest.

Mr. Nixon reports that on this date last year there was an inch of snow on the ground, it has snowed three inches November 7, and gradually melted.

The weather is unsettled in the far west, and this low pressure which causes the unsettled weather on the Pacific coast is moving this way. Indications for this vicinity are: Mostly cloudy and settled; probably rain; not much change in temperature.

Council Votes To Refuse Resignation Or Engineer

The city council by a unanimous vote last night declined to accept the resignation of E. H. Aldrich as City Engineer, submitted by him to Mayor O. E. Roenius yesterday. After a short discussion in which the importance of having competent engineering supervision for city work was emphasized by Alderman James Lynch and John Roberts, the council voted to authorize the mayor to re-engage Mr. Aldrich for the coming year at an increased salary.

Local De Molay Members Install Chapter At Point

Twenty-six officers and members of the local chapter of the Order of De Molay went to Stevens Point Wednesday evening to assist in the installation of a new chapter of the order there. O. Garrison, chief advisor of the local chapter, accompanied the local boys and supervised the installation ceremonies.

Power Company Asks Writ To Maintain Present Rates

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9—Hearings opened today before the railroad commission on application of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light & Power Company for the grant of a temporary order continuing in force the present rates for electric power service in 49 Wisconsin cities and villages served by it.

The action grew out of a recent supreme court decision holding that the railroad commission, by establishing rates under the loop system, has violated the law, and rendered its orders ineffective.

Ferris Will Lead Senate Drive To Unseat Newberry

(By Associated Press)

Big Rapids, Mich. Nov. 9—Senator Elect-W. Ferris, Democrat, announced his intention to work in the United States Senate for the unseating of eSnator Newberry of Michigan.

"It would be premature to state my plans at this time," he stated today. The details have not yet been completed, but my first official act upon taking office will be to begin plans for the re-hearing of Mr. Newberry's case.

"I feel it my duty to the people of Michigan to make this my plan."

ARRANGE PROGRAM ON ARMISTICE DAY

LEGION POST COMPLETES ARRANGEMENTS FOR OBSERVING DAY; STATE COMMANDER DUFFY COMING.

Completed arrangements for the celebration here on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, have been announced by the Charles Hagerstrom Post No. 9, American Legion. The program this year will be brief but will not lack any in quality over preceeding programs as State Commander F. W. Duffy of the State Department of the Legion will be the speaker of the day.

Parade in Afternoon

The program will be inaugurated at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon with a parade of all ex-service men which will form at the St. Paul depot and march to the Amusement hall, where Mayor O. R. Roenius will welcome Commander Duffy and the state commander will deliver his address. A short patriotic musical program will also be given at the Amusement hall in connection with Commander Duffy's address.

Want Large Turnout

The Legion extends an invitation to all people to attend the exercises and especially extends a cordial invitation to all service men to take part in the parade. The ex-service men can take their option of appearing in uniforms or civilian clothes.

The Wisconsin Rapids Retailers Ass'n. has voted to close all stores between 1:30 o'clock and 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon to observe the occasion. The Legion post voted a resolution of appreciation.

Council Votes To Extend Ninth Street To Limits

A motion to open up Ninth street south from Chestnut street to the city limits by the purchase of three lots from William Corcoran was adopted last night by the city council. Under the agreement with Corcoran the city will pay $800 for three lots and Corcorn will be free from any liability for frontage taxes for improvements on the new street as long as he owns the abutting property.

An offer by Walter Canning to donate to the city a street running into First street north above the Green Bay railroad tracks was referred to the city engineer and the street committee.

A petition for an arc light at the north end of Seventh street was denied, but on the recommendation of the general business committee it was voted to place a light at the intersection of Seventh and Baker streets. A petition for an arc light at the north end of Twelfth street was referred to the general business committee.

Will Extend Mains

A petition by residents of Baker street for the extension of water and sewer mains to Seventeenth street, instead of Sixteenth street as originally planed, was granted and the improvements were ordered in. The work on Baker street west of Sixteenth is now in progress and it is expected that the whole job will be completed this fall.

The recommendation by the street committee that the city purchase part of the Ray Love property on Franklin street between First and Second to make the street full width was referred back to the committee with instructions to investigate the possibility of purchasing the needed land on the other side of the street and thus keep it in line.

Election Shows Increased Moisture; Mid-West Names Eleven Wet Congressmen

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9—Eleven avowed wet candidates for Congress were elected and nine self-announced wet aspirants for Congressional seats were defeated in the middle western states' elections Tuesday, analysis of returns showed today.

A majority of middle western candidates either announced themselves before election as drys or remained silent, or stated they did not regard prohibition as an issue.

There were no prohibition contests announced by congressional candidates in these middle western states: Kansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, North and South Dakota and Oklahoma, and in some of them, as Mississippi and Oklahoma, congressional candidates all were reported as prohibitionists.

In Indiana and Iowa the few avowed wet candidates were defeated.

Of the eleven successful wets, 9 were Republicans, 1 Democrat, 1 Socialist. Five democrats, 1 Republican, 1 Socialist and 2 independents, one of which ran on a "beer and light wine" platform, were announced as defeated.

Ohio Still Dry

Ohio defeated the beer and wine proposition by a majority of close to 100,000. The beer and wine proposition in Illinois won by more than two to one, with dry leaders advising their followers not to vote.

California defeated the prohibition enforcement act. Massachusetts voted against harmonizing of state laws with the Volstead federal enforcement law.

New Jersey swept into the Senate Edwards, Democrat, and the proposition of modification of the prohibition measures, and Missouri, elected Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, avowed opponent of the Volstead act. Other Democrats had beer and light wine platforms.

Volstead Defeated

Although Representative Volstead of Minnesota, author of the Volstead enforcement act, was defeated, his congeror, Rev. O. J. Kvale has proclaimed himself even drier than Volstead.

In Iowa, Fred Hagem, Democrat, 3rd district, the only avowed wet candidate, was defeated, while in Michigan, Clancy, Democrat, 1st district and Clarence McLeod, Republican, 13th district, both endorsed by the wets were elected. Otherwise, there were no announced moist congressmen elected in Michigan.

West Side Branch Library To Have Better Quarters

The moving of the West Side branch of the library from its present location on Fourth avenue to the old Bank of Grand Rapids building on Grand avenue, and the establishment of a public comfort station in the rear of the same building was authorized by the common council at its regular monthly meeting last night. The General Business committee of the council and the Board of Public Works were empowered to proceed with the renting of the building and with the necessary improvements.

Need Exists

Action was taken following the reading of a report by Alderman Ben Hanson, chairman of the general business committee, to which had been referred the matter of finding a suitable location for the comfort station which the city, by state law, is required to maintain. Alderman Hanson stated that he had a very advantageous offer from the owners of the Bank of Grand Rapids, and in view of the fact that the library board and the librarian desired a better location for the branch library, and that a comfort station must be obtained, he recommended the acceptance of the offer. He also recommended that provision for comfort station be included in the plans for remodeling the old library building on the east side.

Will Open Soon

Only minor improvements are needed in the Bank of Grand Rapids building to suit it for its new purpose, and it is expected that the branch library will be installed and the comfort station made available for use before winter. It is planned to have a woman's and childrens rest room in connection.

Democrats Gain Many Victories In Michigan

(By Associated Press)

Detroit, Mich. Nov. 9.—Democratic successes in Michigan in Tuesday's election appeared even more pronounced today with belated returns showing in addition to electing a senator, member of the House of Representative and five members of the legislature, the party had gained victories in many counties of the state. In several instances the majority of county officers went to the Democrats for the first time in history.

The big fight, however, was centered in the senatorial contest and a victory by 11,000 votes of Woodridge Ferris, former governor, over Senator Chas. Townsend, was held down as later returns came in.

RETURNS FROM SWEEDEN

Mrs. Gust Enderlin returned home from a five months trip to Sweeden and Finland. She arrived on the Muritania, and was accompnied home from Chicago by Mr. Enderlin who met her there.

Scout Officials To Administer City Affairs Saturday

Mayor-elect Harold Billmeyer and his newly elected scout administration will take full charge of the machinery of city government Saturday afternoon, November 11. Mayor Billmeyer, with other scout officials, attended the city council last night and were presented to Mayor O. R. Roenius and the members of the council by Scout Executive E. H. Justice.

Upon the suggestion of Mayor Roenius it was decided to give the new administration full sway next Saturday, and that afternoon a complete organization of scout officer will take their places besides the regular city officials.

The common council of the scout administration meets with Mayo Billmeyer at 4:30 this afternoon a scout headquarters and at that time a city clerk, city attorney, chief of police, fire chief, and other appointive officers will be named. These will all assure charge of their respective departments Saturday afternoon, and with the cooperation of the regular city officials will have an opportunity to learn much of the inside workings of the city government.

DEMOCRATS MAKE BIG INROADS BUT MAJORITIES HOLD

ELECTION OF LEAVITT IN MONTANA GIVES NECESSARY 218 IN HOUSE; SENATE MAJORITY CUT IN TWO

(By Associated Press)

BULLETIN

New York, Nov. 9—Returns from all but three congressional districts where results are undetermined, today showed 224 Republicans, 205 Democrats, 1 Socialist, 1 Independent and 1 Farmer-Labor elected to the new House of Representatives.

New York, Nov. 9—Continuance of Republican control of Congress, but with the senate majority cut in two, and the House majority of 160 smashed, was the situation as it appeared s Tuesday's congressional returns were almost complete.

Tight races in a few undecided districts, not affecting the general results and delays in counting, threatened to postpone the final figures until tomorrow.

Gain Needed 218

The general outcome of Tuesday's election was virtually known today when belated Montana returns sent the Republicans over the top in the House contest. The election of R. Scott Leavitt, Republican, in Montana, gave the Republicans the 218 votes necessary to control the next House but even these tidings were coupled with news of the defeat of Representative McConnell, Republican, by his democratic opponent John M. Evans.

Returns today show the re-election of Senator King, Democrat, Utah, over Ernest Bamberger, Republican, and Senator Jones, Democrat, in New Mexico, and another Democratic victory in Montana where Burton K. Wheeler was elected over Carl W. Riddick, to succeed Senator Myers, Democrat.

Only two senatorial contests remained in doubt today, in Washington where former Representative Dill, Democrat, was leading Senator Poindexter, Republican, and in North Dakota where the lead of J. F. T. O'Connor, Democrat, over Lynn J. Frazier, his Non-Partisan league opponent on the Republican ticket, was waning as rural returns came in. The Non-Partisan League looks for the ultimate election of Frazier.

Poor Farm Cattle Found Free Of Tuberculosis

A tuberculin test has been made of the cattle of the Wood County Poor farm and all cattle of the herd were found to be free of the disease, according to Dr. V. P. Norton, who made the tests. Other herds have been tested and the following have been declared free of the disease: L. M. Alexander, Herman Gash, J. W. Fraser, Erwin Karberg, of the village of Port Edwards, Spafford Bros. Town of Rudolph, E. J. Carlson, town of Saratoga, and Sciukai & Son, town of Grand Rapids where new animals were introduced into the herd.

Mrs. Henry Duncan Dies At Antigo; Funeral Here

Mrs. Henry Duncan, formerly a resident of Wisconsin Rapids passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Fuller in Antigo, early Wednesday morning. Death was due to apoplexy. The remains will be sent to Wisconsin Rapids Friday noon and will be taken to Ragan's undertaking parlors. Definite funeral arrangements have not been made. Rev. A. A. Bennett will officiate and the interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery where the late husband of the deceased is buried.

Appointment Confirmed

The appointment by Mayor O. R. Roenius of George Moulton to fill the vacancy on the Fire and Police Commission left by the expiration of Fred Kruger's term was ratified last night by the common council.

The program this year will be brief but will not lack any in quality over preceeding programs as State Commander F. W. Duffy of the State Department of the Legion will be the speaker of the day.

Parade in Afternoon

The program will be inaugurated at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon with a parade of all ex-service men which will form at the St. Paul depot and march to the Amusement hall, where Mayor O. R. Roenius will welcome Commander Duffy and the state commander will deliver his address. A short patriotic musical program will also be given at the Amusement hall in connection with Commander Duffy's address.

Want Large Turnout

The Legion extends an invitation to all people to attend the exercises and especially extends a cordial invitation to all service men to take part in the parade. The ex-service men can take their option of appearing in uniforms or civilian clothes.

The Wisconsin Rapids Retailers Ass'n. has voted to close all stores between 1:30 o'clock and 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon to observe the occasion. The Legion post voted a resolution of appreciation.

Council Votes To Extend Ninth Street To Limits

A motion to open up Ninth street south from Chestnut street to the city limits by the purchase of three lots from William Corcoran was adopted last night by the city council. Under the agreement with Corcoran the city will pay $800 for three lots and Corcorn will be free from any liability for frontage taxes for improvements on the new street as long as he owns the abutting property.

An offer by Walter Canning to donate to the city a street running into First street north above the Green Bay railroad tracks was referred to the city engineer and the street committee.

A petition for an arc light at the north end of Seventh street was denied, but on the recommendation of the general business committee it was voted to place a light at the intersection of Seventh and Baker strets. A petition for an arc light at the north end of Twelfth street was referred to the general business committee.

Will Extend Mains

A petition by residents of Baker street for the extension of water and sewer mains to Seventeenth street, instead of Sixteenth street as originally planed, was granted and the improvements were ordered in. The work on Baker street west of Sixteenth is now in progress and it is expected that the whole job will be completed this fall.

The recommendation by the street committee that the city purchase part of the Ray Love property on Franklin street between First and Second to make the street full width was referred back to the committee with instructions to investigate the possibility of purchasing the needed land on the other side of the street and thus keep it in line.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9—Eleven avowed wet candidates for Congress were elected and nine self-announced wet aspirants for Congressional seats were defeated in the middle western states' elections Tuesday, analysis of returns showed today.

A majority of middle western candidates either announced themselves before election as drys or remained silent, or stated they did not regard prohibition as an issue.

There were no prohibition contests announced by congressional candidates in these middle western states: Kansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, North and South Dakota and Oklahoma, and in some of them, as Mississippi and Oklahoma, congressional candidates all were reported as prohibitionists.

In Indiana and Iowa the few avowed wet candidates were defeated.

Of the eleven successful wets, 9 were Republicans, 1 Democrat, 1 Socialist. Five democrats, 1 Republican, 1 Socialist and 2 independents, one of which ran on a "beer and light wine" platform, were announced as defeated.

Ohio Still Dry

Ohio defeated the beer and wine proposition by a majority of close to 100,000. The beer and wine proposition in Illinois won by more than two to one, with dry leaders advising their followers not to vote.

California defeated the prohibition enforcement act. Massachusetts voted against harmonizing of state laws with the Volstead federal enforcement law.

New Jersey swept into the Senate Edwards, Democrat, and the proposition of modification of the prohibition measures, and Missouri, elected Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, avowed opponent of the Volstead act. Other Democrats had beer and light wine platforms.

Volstead Defeated

Although Representative Volstead of Minnesota, author of the Volstead enforcement act, was defeated, his conqueror, Rev. O. J. Kvale has proclaimed himself even drier than Volstead.

In Iowa, Fred Hagern, Democrat, 3rd district, the only avowed wet candidate, was defeated, while in Michigan, Clancy, Democrat, 1st district and Clarence McLeod, Republican, 13th district, both endorsed by the wets were elected. Otherwise, there were no announced moist congressmen elected in Michigan.

West Side Branch Library To Have Better Quarters

The moving of the West Side branch of the library from its present location on Fourth avenue to the old Bank of Grand Rapids building on Grand avenue, and the establishment of a public comfort station in the rear of the same building was authorized by the common council at its regular monthly meeting last night. The General Business committee of the council and the Board of Public Works were empowered to proceed with the renting of the building and with the necessary improvements.

Need Exisis

Action was taken following the reading of a report by Alderman Ben Hanson, chairman of the general business committee, to which had been referred the matter of finding a suitable location for the comfort station which the city, by state law, is required to maintain. Alderman Hanson stated that he had a very advantageous offer from the owners of the Bank of Grand Rapids, and in view of the fact that the library board and the librarian desired a better location for the branch library, and that a comfort station must be obtained, he recommended the acceptance of the offer. He also recommended that provision for comfort station be included in the plans for remodeling the old library building on the east side.

Will Open Soon

Only minor improvements are needed in the Bank of Grand Rapids building to suit it for its new purpose, and it is expected that the branch library will be installed and the comfort station made available for use before winter. It is planned to have a woman's and childrens rest room in connection.

Democrats Gain Many Victories In Michigan

(By Associated Press)

Detroit, Mich. Nov. 9.—Democratic successes in Michigan in Tuesday's election appeared even more pronounced today with belated returns showing in addition to electing a senator, member of the House of Representative and five members of the legislature, the party had gained victories in many counties of the state. In several instances the majority of county officers went to the Democrats for the first time in history.

The big fight, however, was centered in the senatorial contest and a victory by 11,000 votes of Woodridge Ferris, former governor, over Senator Chas. Townsend, was held down as later returns came in.

Scout Officials To Administer City Affairs Saturday

Mayor-elect Harold Billmeyer and his newly elected scout administration will take full charge of the machinery of city government Saturday afternoon, November 11. Mayor Billmeyer, with other scout officials, attended the city council last night and were presented to Mayor O. R. Roenius and the members of the council by Scout Executive E. H. Justice.

Upon the suggestion of Mayor Roenius it was decided to give the new administration full sway next Saturday, and that afternoon a complete organization of scout officers will take their places besides the regular city officials.

The common council of the scout administration meets with Mayor Billmeyer at 4:30 this afternoon at scout headquarters and at that time a city clerk, city attorney, chief of police, fire chief, and other appointive officers will be named. These will all assure charge of their respective departments Saturday afternoon, and with the cooperation of the regular city officials will have an opportunity to learn much of the inside workings of the city government.

Babcock Woman Buried At Darlington Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Olae Everstad, who died last Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. Kammerud at Babcock, was held Monday at two o'clock conducted by Rev. G. M Thurow of Wisconsin Rapids. On Monday night Mr. Klammerud accompanied the remains to Darlington where services were conducted by Rev Thurow again, and burial was made in the Darlington cemetery Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Everstad was born in Norway 90 years ago and came to Green Co. Wisconsin 52 years ago where she resided until coming to Babcock three years ago. She leaves two daughters Mrs. Lena Kammerud of Babcock and Mrs. M. Thompson of Janesville also two sons Otto of Blanchardville Wiconsin, and Andrew of Darlington.

DEMOCRATS MAKE BIG INROADS BUT MAJORITIES HOLD

ELECTION OF LEAVITT IN MONTANA GIVES NECESSARY 218 IN HOUSE; SENATE MAJORITY CUT IN TWO

(By Associated Press)

BULLETIN

New York, Nov. 9—Returns from all but three congressional districts where results are undetermined, today showed 221 Republicans, 205 Democrats, 1 Socialist, 1 Independent and 1 Farmer-Labor elected to the new House of Representatives.

New York, Nov. 9—Continuance of Republican control of Congress, but with the senate majority cut in two, and the House majority of 160 smashed, was the situation as it appeared s Tuesday's congressional returns were almost complete.

Tight races in a few undecided districts, not affecting the general results and delays in counting, threatened to postpone the final figures until tomorrow.

Gain Needed 218

The general outcome of Tuesday's election was virtually known today when belated Montana returns sent the Republicans over the top in the House contest. The election of R. Scott Leavitt, Republican, in Montana, gave the Republicans the 218 votes necessary to control the next House but even these tidings were coupled with news of the defeat of Representative McConnell, Republican, by his democratic opponent John M. Evans.

Returns today show the re-election of Senator King, Democrat, Utah, over Ernest Bamberger, Republican, and Senator Jones, Democrat, in New Mexico, and another Democratic victory in Montana where Burton K. Wheeler was elected over Carl W. Riddick, to succeed Senator Myers, Democrat.

Only two senatorial contests remained in doubt today, in Washington where former Representative Dill, Democrat, was leading Senator Poindexter, Republican, and in North Dakota where the lead of J. F. T. O'Connor, Democrat, over Lynn J. Frazier, his Non-Partisan league opponent on the Republican ticket, was waning as rural returns came in. The Non-Partisan League looks for the ultimate election of Frazier.

Poor Farm Cattle Found Free Of Tuberculosis

A tuberculin test has been made of the cattle of the Wood County Poor farm and all cattle of the herd were found to be free of the disease, according to Dr. V. P. Norton, who made the tests. Other herds have been tested and the following have been declared free of the disease: L. M. Alexander, Herman Gash, J. W. Fraser, Erwin Karberg, of the village of Port Edwards, Spafford Bros. Town of Rudolph, E. J. Carlson, town of Saratoga, and Schukai & Son, town of Grand Rapids where new animals were introduced into the herd.

Mrs. Henry Duncan, formerly a resident of Wisconsin Rapids passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Fuller in Antigo, early Wednesday morning. Death was due to apoplexy. The remains will be sent to Wisconsin Rapids Friday noon and will be taken to Ragan's undertaking parlors. Definite funeral arrangements have not been made. Rev. A. A. Bennett will officiate and the interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery where the late husband of the deceased is buried.

THE ROWAN OF 1813

It was Commodore Perry who sent the thrilling message after the battle of Lake Erie: "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The pulse of every true American beats faster at these words. For Perry's victory, against great odds, was one of the bravest and most remarkable exploits in naval history.

The battle took place on September 10, 1813. But we must remember that not all the heroic work was done upon that day. As with so many historical events, examples of less striking devotion have been passed by, overshadowed by the greater event.

So it is fitting today to call attention to the career of Peter Navarre. A pioneer and scout born of French parents in Detroit, he it was who took the orders from General Harrison to Perry which precipitated the Battle of Lake Erie.

His task was difficult, and called forth all the craft and hardihood of the true woodsman. Navarre knew the Indians well, and the British had set a price of a thousand dollars on his head. This did not daunt him. Ordered to deliver the message at a spot some 50 miles from General Harrison's camp he set forth. The peril from the enemy was increased by a storm which broke over his head. Running by night, slyly slipping from tree to tree in the daytime, he delivered the message.

A salute, the passage of an oilskin passage from one hand to another, and Peter Navarre plunged again into the woods. It was his hand that later was to slay Tecumseh, the great Indian chief. Yet the old scout never was given proper reward by his government. He was content. He had had the opportunity to serve and save America, and that was enough for him. Peter Navarre died in poverty not many years ago, at the age of 89. One event shone forth in his memory to the last—he had delivered the message.

FOR HIM WHO WORKS

Jim Harbord, attending Kansas State Agricultural College, failed to win an appointment to West Point, so he made his way out to Spokane and enlisted in the Fourth Infantry. Private Harbord of 1889 is Major General Harbord of 1922, and is to be chief of staff when General Pershing goes to inactive duty in another year.

His military career has been a distinguished one, filled with hard work. When he enlisted he studied his job, availed himself of the military colleges, won staff appointments, served here, there and everywhere in whatever capacity offered, but always went steadily up until he is now ready to step to the top rung of the ladder, the most enviable position in the American Army active list.

Inasmuch as popular conception gives the favored promotion in the armed services to West Point and Annapolis graduates this is a healthy thing for the country. Jim Harbords are conspicuous in other walks of American activity; opportunity usually comes from hard work and ninety per centum of the successful men of your acquaintance made their own way from the bottom. That is the American tradition. Harbord carries it into the Army, with its pride of tradition, and shows the way to American boyhood. For him who works and uses his head reward in this land is limitless.

Studebaker

It is not necessary to buy a high-priced roadster to get maximum comfort. Comfort is a matter of correct design. Comfort is built into the Studebaker Light-Six.

The seat is placed at just the right angle for relaxation and is provided with big, fat cushions, upholstered in genuine leather. The semi-elliptic springs are long, strong and resilient.

There is ample luggage space under the rear deck—plenty of room for everything you may want to carry.

Vibration, which is so destructive to motor cars, is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor. This is largely due to the fact that the crankshaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, an exclusive Studebaker practice for cars at anywhere near the Light-Six price.

Economy of operation is increased by valves inclined at a 20-degree angle and by the internal hot spot.

This handsome roadster is a quality car throughout. It is sold at $975 only because of complete manufacture, in large volume, in one of the most modern and complete motor car plants in the world.

Middlemen's profits are thus eliminated, and the savings are passed on to you.

The Light-Six Roadster well upholds Studebaker's 70-year reputation for dependability and dollar-for-dollar value.

Attractive cowl lights. Thief-proof transmission lock. Cowl ventilator. Storm curtains opening with the doors. Large plate-glass window in rear curtain. Inside and outside door handles. Upholstered in genuine leather. Ample space under the rear deck for luggage.

"Just be a Fig in the Bag"

All gone! And Mother thought she had plenty of Fig Honey Puffs to serve with her dessert. But she hasn't the heart to blame the youngsters. She serves these delicious cookies when she has afternoon guests. Father pilfers a couple before going to bed at night. Is it any wonder the children like them 'tween meals? And Johnston's Fig Honey Puffs are so healthful—golden honey cake, pure fig jam, rich creamy marshmallow and a wonderful coating of sugar crystal. Ask your grocer for a pound today.

Recipe for Soft Caramel Custard

1 quart milk
½ cup sugar
6 eggs
½ teaspoon salt

Put milk over hot water in double boiler. Beat eggs and add cold milk and salt to them. Stir egg in small cup until it becomes liquid and not beaten to smoke. Stir it into the boiling milk. Then add the beaten eggs and cold milk, and stir constantly until the mixture thickens. Set away to cool. Serve in glass with Johnston's Fig Honey Puffs.

CHAPTER II

When at last Eve arrived at the place of pines again, and saw the far spectral glimmer of Quintana's fire, the girl was almost breathless. But dawn was not very far away and there remained little time for the taking alive of a dangerous man.

When two enormous pines grew close together near a sapling, she knelt down, and, with both hands, scooped out a big hollow in the immemorial layers of pine needles. Here she placed her trap. It took all her strength and skill to set it; to fasten the chain around the base of the sapling pine.

And now, working with only the faintest glimmer of her torch, she covered everything with pine needles.

It was not possible to restore the forest floor; the place remained visible—a darker, rougher patch on the bronzed carpet of needles beaten smooth by decades of rain and snow. No animal would have trodden that suspicious space. But it was with man she had to deal—a dangerous but reasoning man with few and atrophied instincts—and with no experience in traps; and, therefore, in no dread of them.

Before she started she had thrown a cartridge into the breech of her rifle.

Now she pocketed her torch and seated herself between the two big pines and about three feet behind the hidden trap.

Dawn was not far away. She looked upward through high pine-tops where stars shone; and saw no sign of dawn. But the watcher by the fire beyond was astir, now, in the imminence of dawn, and evidently meant to warm himself before leaving.

Eve could hear him piling dry wood on the fire; the light on the tree trunks grew redder; a pungent reek of smoke was drawn through the forest aisles. She sniffed it, listened, and watched, her rifle across her knees.

Eve never had been afraid of anything. She was not afraid of this man. If it came to combat she would have to kill. It never entered her mind to fear Quintana's rifle. Even Clinch was not as swift with a rifle as she. . . .Only Stormont had been swifter—thank God!—

She thought of Stormont—sat there in the terrific darkness loving him, her heart of a child tremulous with adoration.

Then the memory of Darragh pushed in and hot hatred possessed her. Always, in her heart, she had distrusted the man.

Instinct had warned her. A spy! What evil had he worked already. Where was her father? Evidently Quintana had escaped him at Drowned Valley. . . . . Quintana was yonder by his fire, preparing to flee the wilderness where men hunted him . . . . . But where was Clinch? Had this sneak, Darragh, betrayed him? Was Clinch already in the clutch of State Trooners? Was he in jail?

At the though the girl felt slightly faint, then a rush of angry blood stung her face in the darkness. Except for game and excise violations the stories they told about Clinch were lies.

He had nothing to fear, nothing to be ashamed of. Hatred had driven him to lawlessness; the Government took away what was left him to make a living. He had to live. What if he did break laws made by millionaire and fanatic! What of it? He had her love and her respect—and her deep,deep pity. And these were enough for any girl to fight for.

Dawn spread a silvery light above the pines, but Quintana's fire still reddened the tree trunks; and she could hear him feeding it at intervals.

Finally she saw him. He came out on the edge of the ruddy ring of light and stood peering around at the woods where already a vague grayness was revealing nearer trees.

When finally, he turned his back and looked at his fire, Eve rose and stood between the two big pines. Behind one of them she placed her rifle.

It was growing lighter in the woods. She could see Quintana in the fire ring and outside—saw him go to the spring rivulet, lie flat, drink then, on his knees, wash face and hands in the icy water.

It became plain to her that he was nearly ready to depart. She watched him preparing. And now she could see him plainly and knew him to be Quintana, and no other.

He had a light basket pack. He put some articles into it, stretched himself and yawned, pulled on his hat, hoisted the pack and fastened it to his back, stood staring at the fire for a long time; then, with a sudden upward look at the zenith where a slight flush stained a cloud, he picked up his rifle.

"Hallo! Hi! You over there," she called again. "This is Eve Strayer. I'm looking for Clinch! He hasn't been home all night. Have you seen him?"

"Hey!" she cried. "What's the matter with you over there? I'm asking you who you are and if you've seen my father?"

As he flitted through the shadows rzvag. -ing-Orar ooovmamU. . . h"s the trees between which she was standing hid her from him a moment. instantly she placed her rifle on the ground and kicked the pine needles over it.

It was evident that he had reconnoitered sufficiently to satisfy himself that the girl was alone and that no trick, no ambuscade, threatened him.

And now, from behind a pine, and startlingly near her, came Quintana moving with confident grace yet holding his rifle ready for any emergency.

Eve's horrified stare was natural; she had not realized that any man could wear so evil a smile.

Quintana stopped short a dozen paces away. The dramatic in him demanded of the moment its full value. He swept off his hat with a flourish, bowed deeply where he stood.

"Ah!" he cried gaily, "the happy encounter, Senorita. God is too good to us. And it was but a moment since my thoughts were of you!—"

It was not fear; it was a sort of slow horror of this man that began to creep over the girl. She stared at his brilliant eyes, at his thick mouth, too red—shuddered slightly. But the toe of her right foot touched the stock of her rifle under the pine needles.

She held herself under control.

"So, it's you" she said unsteadily I thought our people had caught you."

Quintana laughed: "Charming child," he said, "it is I who have caught your people. And now, my God!—I catch you!.....It is ver' funny. Is it not?"

She looked straight into Quintana's black eyes, but the look he returned sent the shamed blood surging into her face.

"By God," he said between his white, even teeth—"by God!"

Staring at her he slowly disengaged his pack, let it fall behind him on the pine needles; rested his rifle on it; slipped out of his mackinaw and laid that across the rifle—always keeping his brilliant eyes on her.

For an instant he stood there, unencumbered, a wiry, graceful shape in his woolen breeches, leggings, and gray shirt open at the throat. Then he took a step toward her. And the girl watched him, fascinated.

One pace, two, a third, a fourth—the girl's involuntary cry echoed the stumbling crash of the man thrashing, clawing, scrambling in the clenched jaws of the bear-trap amid a whirl of flying pine needles.

He screamed once, tried to rise, turned blindly to seize the jaws that clutched him; and suddenly crouched, loose-jointed, cringing like a trapped wolf—the true fatalist among our lesser brothers.

DEMITZ—GANZER

Miss Natalie Demitz, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Demitz, of Wisconsin Rapids, and Mr. Harvey Ganzer of Oshkosh were married Wednesday evening, Nov. 8th, at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Henry C. Demitz. The marriage service was read by Rev. C. A. Mellicke, pastor of the First Moravian church. The contracting parties were attended by Miss Bernice Cundy and Mr. George Johnson, both of Oshkosh. The ceremony took place in the living room, the bridal party standing in front of the fire place which was banked with ferns, high bush cranberries, and snow berries. The bride wore a gown of brown roshanara crepe and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Cundy's dress was of blue roshanara crepe and she also carried an arm bouquet of yellow chysanthemums.

A wedding dinner was served to twenty-two guests, which included immediate relatives and a few girl friends of the bride. The table decorations were yellow and white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride was born and brought up in Wisconsin Rapids. After graduating from the Lincoln High School she attended the Stevens Point Normal and upon finishing her education served as stenographer in the local First National Bank, resigning her position at the end of three years to accept a position of the same kind with the First National Bank at Marshfield. She resigned the latter after three years employment to become the bride of Mr. Ganzer. Mr. and Mrs. Ganzer left Wednesday evening on a bridal trip to Chicago, from where they will return to Park Falls for the winter. Mr. Ganzer is at present employed in that city as foreman for the G. R. Meyers & Sons Construction Co.

TOMLINSON—TOMLINSON

At 2:30 p. m. Saturday afternoon at the Congregational church at Nekoosa, occurred the wedding of Mrs. Carrie Tomlinson of St. Paul and Frank Tomlinson of Brayuard, Minn. Rev. C. A. O'Neil performed the wedding. They were attended by Mrs. Geo. Hinkley and Mrs. A. C. Hinkley, both of Nekoosa.

Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson are visiting relatives at Nekoosa a few days before going on to St. Paul where they will make their future home.

BLACKBURN—HUESDEN

Word has just been received here of the wedding of Miss Alice Blackburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blackburn of Nekoosa to Peter Huesden of Racine. The wedding took place at Racine October 14th.

Mr. and Mrs. Huesden will make their home at Racine.

PALACE TONIGHT

Sonny!

A plaint that has fallen from the lips of sacrificing motherhood ever since the world was born.

"Sonny."

The one word epitomizes the theme of the First National attraction starring Richard Barthelmess. We can't say anything about the plot without giving away the joy of expectation—but you know Dick.

Simple, sincere, genuine. He has never done anything more human in its quiet, emotional appeal than this gripping drama of motherless manhood. Even "Tol'able David" with its compelling genuineness must bow to the humanity of "Sonny."

If you don't see this you miss something worth while. Come early 7 and 9

Palace Saturday

Although Rodolph Valentino, the handsome young actor who is appearing with Mae Murray in her starring vehicle "The Delicious Little Devil" at the Palace Theatre, Saturday, was born in Taranto, he seldom displays the fiery temper which is accepted as characteristic of the Italian Flying Corps, conducting away to rouse his ire, and that is by spelling his first name Rudolph instead of Rodolph. Valentino is the son of a captain in the Italian army, and he was himself attched to the Italian Flying Corps, conducting experiments in hazardous air stunts at Mineola and he naturally dislikes the Teutonic spelling of his given name

Valentino began his public career as an automobile racer in Italy, winning second honors in a race between Naples and Rome in 1908, at the age of sixteen. His first stage appearance in America was as a dancer in New York, and for two yers he toured the country as Joan Sawyer's dancing partner. He sang and danced in musical comedy for a season, and rounded out his age career by a year with the Alcazar Stock Company in San Francisco.

GRUWELL'S IDEAL THEATER

Constance Talmadge points a moral in a delightfully humorous vein to all stage struck girls in "Polly of the Follies" which will be given its final showings at Gruwell's Ideal Theatre tonight. She shows that there is considerably more than simple a desire to making good on the stage.

Little Polly Meachan, the drudge of the village drug store, had a talent for theatricals and put on a "darned good show" for the kids, at the drug store when old Silas was at a "meetin'" of the village board, but when she finally broke into the bright lights under Flo Ziegfeld's banner, she broke out again with swiftness.

This picture is so refreshingly different from the usual that it is bound to have a surprise for everyone. Anita Loos and John Emerson have built a whimsical scenario for "Polly of the Follies" that carries a real love story through all sorts of by-paths. In its way this offering of the spritely Constance is quite as notable as the wonderful "Smilin' Through" of her sister Norma which pleased so well and everyone who can, should see "Polly of the Follies" at its final showings tonight.

"Living Lies" an emotional drama produced by Mayflower, the company that made "The Miracle Man" is the feature for "Bargain Night" at Gruwell's Ideal Theatre this week. With it comes the current chapter of "Buffalo Bill" and a Bobby Ray comedy. On Saturday we welcome a new western star, Pete Morrison in a "semi-western love story "The Better Man Wins" together with a Tweedy comedy and "The Blue Fox" while Sunday's bill includes Jack Holt in his newest vehicle "The Man Unconquerable."

Miss Esther Kortcamp of Arpin has accepted a position as saleslady in the W. C. Weisel store.

Double Soap Without Increased Size

Would you buy cornmeal mixed with sawdust simply because it might be cheaper than another sackful of pure cornmeal? Then, why buy ordinary white or yellow laundry soap when it is mixed with "filler" to make a little soap look like a full-size bar?

This may be news to you, but it's something fabric makers have known for years. They avoid the common laundry soap and wash their materials with olive oil soap.

All the energy you spend rubbing "filler" into clothes is wasted, for the "filler" has no cleaning power. Worse than that, it cuts and rots the fabrics. Soon little holes and thin spots appear and you blame the goods or the woman who washes.

Get the new, large, greenish laundry bar called GREEN ARROW, containing—not "filler"—but real olive oil and naphtha. It's the olive oil whiteness, softness and sweetness that makes new materials so attractive when you buy them. You can keep your clothes like new if you wash them with a soap like this.

Pure GREEN ARROW is made by The Palmolive Co. No soap maker could afford to use olive oil in a home laundry soap if it were not for an enormous output of olive oil products, in which The Palmolive Co. leads the world. Every home that gets this large greenish laundry bar gets the benefit of their quantity production in the form of a finer laundry soap than you ever dreamed you could have, and one that goes nearly twice as far as the ordinary because it is all soap—hence all cleaning power.

It never makes hands red, dry or rough. Order it from your grocer, but be sure to use less soap.

COLDS ARE CONTAGIOUS—BEWARE! FIRST SNEEZE IS YOUR WARNING

His treatment dissolved and disintegrated the phlegm or mucous and assisted nature to carry the accumulated mass. The same prescription used for la grippe, tonsilitis, asthma, bronchitis, quinsy, whooping cough and kindred diseases, produced further marvelous results.

Dr. Griffin's prescription has become known among the druggists of the country as Muco-Solvent Liquid. It is sold to the extent of thousands of bottles each year and today, forty years after its first use, is considered a valuable ally in many homes.

If you have an affliction seemingly impossible of correction get a bottle of Muco-Solvent Liquid (75c and $1.50 at druggists) and take it according to directions. It is not an opiate and is absolutely safe for child or adult, being purely vegetable, composed of antiseptics so combined as to produce a specific for suppurative and inflammatory diseases of the mucous membrane.

MOTHER!

BABY'S NOSE IS RUNNING

Bring the jar of Muco Salve, quick! Just a bit of this wonderful preparation in baby's nostrils opens his head, soothes and heals the delicate membranes of the nasal passages and respiratory tract.

If Taken In Hand At Once Cold Can Be Stopped In Thirty Minutes

Muco-Solvent Salve Is Best Remedy

Said to Relieve Worst Kind of a Cold In One Night—Safe and Simple To Use

From all sides comes interesting reports of wonderful results obtained from the use of Muco-Solvent Salve in the treatment of colds and la grippe.

Emphasis is also laid upon the fact that this simple remedy is equally effective for adults and children, and being applied externally, it cannot cause derangement of the organs of digestion and elimination.

Next to its efficacy the outstanding virtue is the utter simplicity of the treatment.

Inhale the Vapors.

For ordinary cold in head melt a little Muco Salve in a spoon or tin cup and inhale the vapors, taking long, deep breaths. Relief is positively instantaneous for the nasal passages are immediately opened. Then insert salve in each nostril and breathe deeply to clear the upper respiratory tract.

Rub on Chest.

If the cold is of long standing, follow the above method and rub Muco Salve liberally on chest, afterward covering same with warm cloths to promote absorption. Thus the congestion is scattered and if the patient will take a good laxative, cold will be about gone by morning.

While the treatment is absurdly simple and is really based upon grandmother's old time poultices and plasters, the compounding of Muco-Solvent Salve is an operation requiring a knowledge of many scientific facts. The formula is the result of patient experiments and represents long laboratory research. This possibly accounts for the fact that similar preparations do not seem to be as effective.

No More Influenza.

It is now predicted that the general use of Muco Salve will have much to do with the prevention of influenza. Especially if used as a preventive after being in the same room, lodge hall, church or other places where there are persons, young or old, with colds; for colds are very contagious and are the forerunner of la grippe, influenza and pneumonia.

Only 25 Cents

By reason of an enormous output, Muco-Solvent Salve is sold at the reasonable price of 25 cents for the home size jar. It is therefore within the reach of poor and rich alike. At all druggists everywhere, among them Model Drug Store, Wood County Drug Store, Sam Church Drug Co., Otto's Pharmacy, and John E. Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.—Advertisement.

RICHARD BARTHELMESS

SCORES AGAIN WITH A BIG ONE!

You'll remmebr this boy who takes a dead buddy's place in a blind mother's heart. Only a dog knows the difference. Then the longings of a lifetime make him want to be "Sonny" always to the sweet old mother—but he cannot live a lie.

Then, too, he falls in love with the girl supposed to be his own sister.

True as "Tol'able David." But different!

To the point of perfection he carries his portrayal of motherless-manhood, trying—lying to hold the love of the woman who calls him "Sonny."

It stands among the most human plays and as one of the greatest individual triumphs ever radiated from the screen.

THE ROWAN OF 1813

It was Commodore Perry who sent the thrilling message after the battle of Lake Erie: "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The pulse of every true American beats faster at these words. For Perry's victory, against great odds, was one of the bravest and most remarkable exploits in naval history.

The battle took place on September 10, 1813. But we must remember that not all the heroic work was done upon that day. As with so many historical events, examples of less striking devotion have been passed by, overshadowed by the greater event.

So it is fitting today to call attention to the career of Peter Navarre. A pioneer and scout born of French parents in Detroit, he it was who took the orders from General Harrison to Perry which precipitated the Battle of Lake Erie.

His task was difficult, and called forth all the craft and hardihood of the true woodsman. Navarre knew the Indians well, and the British had set a price of a thousand dollars on his head. This did not daunt him. Ordered to deliver the message at a spot some 80 miles from General Harrison's camp he set forth. The peril from the enemy was increased by a storm which broke over his head. Running by night, slyly slipping from tree to tree in the daytime, he delivered the message.

A salute, the passage of an oilskin passage from one hand to another, and Peter Navarre plunged again into the woods. It was his hand that later was to slay Tecumseh, the great Indian chief. Yet the old scout never was given proper reward by his government. He was content. He had had the opportunity to serve and save America, and that was enough for him. Peter Navarre died in poverty not many years ago, at the age of 88. One event shone forth in his memory to the last—he had delivered the message.

FOR HIM WHO WORKS

Jim Harbord, attending Kansas State Agricultural College, failed to win an appointment to West Point, so he made his way out to Spokane and enlisted in the Fourth Infantry. Private Harbord of 1889 is Major General Harbord of 1922, and is to be chief of staff when General Pershing goes to inactive duty in another year.

His military career has been a distinguished one, filled with hard work. When he enlisted he studied his job, availed himself of the military colleges, won staff appointments, served here, there and everywhere in whatever capacity offered, but always went steadily up until he is now ready to step to the top rung of the ladder, the most enviable position in the American Army active list.

Inasmuch as popular conception gives the favored promotion in the armed services to West Point and Annapolis graduates this is a healthy thing for the country. Jim Harbords are conspicuous in other walks of American activity; opportunity usually comes from hard work and ninety per centum of the successful men of your acquaintance made their own way from the bottom. That is the American tradition. Harbord carries it into the Army, with its pride of tradition, and shows the way to American boyhood. For him who works and uses his head reward in this land is limitless.

Studebaker

It is not necessary to buy a high-priced roadster to get maximum comfort. Comfort is a matter of correct design. Comfort is built into the Studebaker Light-Six.

The seat is placed at just the right angle for relaxation and is provided with big, fat cushions, upholstered in genuine leather. The semi-elliptic springs are long, strong and resilient.

There is ample luggage space under the rear deck—plenty of room for everything you may want to carry.

Vibration, which is so destructive to motor cars, is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor. This is largely due to the fact that the crankshaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, an exclusive Studebaker practice for cars at anywhere near the Light-Six price.

Economy of operation is increased by valves inclined at a 20-degree angle and by the internal hot spot.

This handsome roadster is a quality car throughout. It is sold at $975 only because of complete manufacture, in large volume, in one of the most modern and complete motor car plants in the world.

Middlemen's profits are thus eliminated, and the savings are passed on to you.

The Light-Six Roadster well upholds Studebaker's 70-year reputation for dependability and dollar-for-dollar value.

Attractive cowl lights. Thief-proof transmission lock. Cowl ventilator. Storm curtains opening with the doors. Large plate-glass window in rear curtain. Inside and outside door handles. Upholstered in genuine leather. Ample space under the rear deck for luggage.

Clemenceau Emmissary Of Good Will He Tells Press

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 9—Former Premier Clemenceau on the eve of his departure for the United States, declared the object of his trip would be "to create a state of mind in the United States which will permit in the near future—I hope in the near future—negotiations between public bodies leading to understandings capable of producing results."

He added that he believed peace in Europe was based on the friendly relations between America, England and France and his object would be to bring to America the full spirit of that fact.

Clemenceau gave no motive underlying his visit, in reply to Hutin's observation that a man of his age would not undertake, in the winter months, the worries and fatigue of such a trip without feeling confident that his country would benefit thereby.

CHAPTER II

When at last Eve arrived at the place of pines again, and saw the far spectral glimmer of Quintana's fire, the girl was almost breathless. But dawn was not very far away and there remained little time for the taking alive of a dangerous man.

When two enormous pines grew close together near a sapling, she knelt down, and, with both hands, scooped out a big hollow in the immemorial layers of pine needles. Here she placed her trap. It took all her strength and skill to set it; to fasten the chain around the base of the sapling pine.

And now, working with only the faintest glimmer of her torch, she covered everything with pine needles.

It was not possible to restore the forest floor; the place remained visible—a darker, rougher patch on the bronzed carpet of needles beaten smooth by decades of rain and snow. No animal would have trodden that suspicious space. But it was with man she had to deal—a dangerous but reasoning man with few and atrophied instincts—and with no experience in traps; and, therefore, in no dread of them.

Before she started she had thrown a cartridge into the breech of her rifle.

Now she pocketed her torch and seated herself between the two big pines and about three feet behind the hidden trap.

Dawn was not far away. She looked upward through high pine-tops where stars shone; and saw no sign of dawn. But the watcher by the fire beyond was astir, now, in the imminence of dawn, and evidently meant to warm himself before leaving.

Eve could hear him piling dry wood on the fire; the light on the tree trunks grew redder; a pungent reek of smoke was drawn through the forest aisles. She sniffed it, listened, and watched, her rifle across her knees.

Eve never had been afraid of anything. She was not afraid of this man. If it came to combat she would have to kill. It never entered her mind to fear Quintana's rifle. Even Clinch was not as swift with a rifle as she. . . .Only Stormont had been swifter—thank God!—

She thought of Stormont—sat there in the terrific darkness loving him, her heart of a child tremulous with adoration.

Then the memory of Darragh pushed in and hot hatred possessed her. Always, in her heart, she had distrusted the man.

Instinct had warned her. A spy! What evil had he worked already. Where was her father? Evidently Quintana had escaped him at Drowned Valley. . . . . Quintana was yonder by his fire, preparing to flee the wilderness where men hunted him . . . . . But where was Clinch? Had this sneak, Darragh, betrayed him? Was Clinch already in the clutch of State Trooners? Was he in jail?

At the though the girl felt slightly faint then a rush of angry blood stung her face in the darkness. Except for game and excise violations the stories they told about Clinch were lies.

He had nothing to fear, nothing to be ashamed of. Harrod had driven him to lawlessness; the Government took away what was left him to make a living. He had to live. What if he did break laws made by millionaire and fanatic! What of it? He had her love and her respect—and her deep,deep pity. And these were enough for any girl to fight for.

Dawn spread a silvery light above the pines, but Quintana's fire still reddened the tree trunks; and she could hear him feeding it at intervals.

Finally she saw him. He came out on the edge of the ruddy ring of light and stood peering around at the woods where already a vague grayness was revealing nearer trees.

When finally, he turned his back and looked at his fire, Eve rose and stood between the two big pines. Behind one of them she placed her rifle.

It was growing lighter in the woods. She could see Quintana in the fire ring and outside—saw him go to the spring rivulet, lie flat, drink then, on his knees, wash face and hands in the icy water.

It became plain to her that he was nearly ready to depart. She watched him preparing. And now she could see him plainly and knew him to be Quintana, and no other.

He had a light basket pack. He put some articles into it, stretched himself and yawned, pulled on his hat, hoisted the pack and fastened it to his back, stood staring at the fire for a long time; then, with a sudden upward look at the zenith where a slight flush stained a cloud, he picked up his rifle.

"Hallo! Hi! You over there," she called again. "This is Eve Strayer. I'm looking for Clinch! He hasn't been home all night. Have you seen him?"

"Hey!" she cried. "What's the matter with you over there? I'm asking you who you are and if you've seen my father?"

As he flitted through the shadows rzvag. -ing-Orar ooovmamU.. h"s the trees between which she was standing hid her from him a moment. Instantly she placed her rifle on the ground and kicked the pine needles over it.

It was evident that he had reconnoitered sufficiently to satisfy himself that the girl was alone and that no trick, no ambuscade, threatened him.

And now, from behind a pine, and startlingly near her, came Quintana moving with confident grace yet holding his rifle ready for any emergency.

Eve's horrified stare was natural; she had not realized that any man could wear so evil a smile.

Quintana stopped short a dozen paces away. The dramatic in him demanded of the moment its full value. He swept off his hat with a flourish, bowed deeply where he stood.

"Ah!" he cried gaily, "the happy encounter, Senorita. God is too good to us. And it was but a moment since my thoughts were of you!—"

It was not fear; it was a sort of slow horror of this man that began to creep over the girl. She stared at his brilliant eyes, at his thick mouth, too red—shuddered slightly. But the toe of her right foot touched the stock of her rifle under the pine needles.

She held herself under control.

"So, it's you" she said unsteadily I thought our people had caught you."

Quintana laughed: "Charming child," he said, "it is I who have caught your people. And now, my God!—I catch you!.....It is ver' funny. Is it not?"

She looked straight into Quintana's black eyes, but the look he returned sent the shamed blood surging into her face.

"By God," he said between his white, even teeth—"by God!"

Staring at her he slowly disengaged his pack, let it fall behind him on the pine needles; rested his rifle on it; slipped out of his mackinaw and laid that across the rifle—always keeping his brilliant eyes on her.

For an instant he stood there, unencumbered, a wiry, graceful shape in his woolen breeches, leggings, and gray shirt open at the throat. Then he took a step toward her. And the girl watched him, fascinated.

One pace, two, a third, a fourth—the girl's involuntary cry echoed the stumbling crash of the man thrashing, clawing, scrambling in the clenched jaws of the bear-trap amid a whirl of flying pine needles.

He screamed once, tried to rise, turned blindly to seize the jaws that clutched him; and suddenly crouched, loose-jointed, cringing like a trapped wolf—the true fatalist among our lesser brothers.

DEMITZ—GANZER

Miss Natalie Demitz, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Demitz, of Wisconsin Rapids, and Mr. Harvey Ganzer of Oshkosh were married Wednesday evening, Nov. 8th, at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Henry C. Demitz. The marriage service was read by Rev. C. A. Meilicke, pastor of the First Moravian church. The contracting parties were attended by Miss Bernice Cundy and Mr. George Johnson, both of Oshkosh. The ceremony took place in the living room, the bridal party standing in front of the fire place which was banked with ferns, high bush cranberries, and snow berries. The bride wore a gown of brown roshanara crepe and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Cundy's dress was of blue roshanara crepe and she also carried an arm bouquet of yellow chysanthemums.

A wedding dinner was served to twenty-two guests, which included immediate relatives and a few girl friends of the bride. The table decorations were yellow and white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride was born and brought up in Wisconsin Rapids. After graduating from the Lincoln High School she attended the Stevens Point Normal and upon finishing her education served as stenographer in the local First National Bank, resigning her position at the end of three years to accept a position of the same kind with the First National Bank at Marshfield. She resigned the latter after three years employment to become the bride of Mr. Ganzer. Mr. and Mrs. Ganzer left Wednesday evening on a bridal trip to Chicago, from where they will return to Park Falls for the winter. Mr. Ganzer is at present employed in that city as foreman for the C. R. Meyers & Sons Construction Co.

TOMLINSON—TOMLINSON

At 2:30 p. m. Saturday afternoon at the Congregational church at Nekoosa, occurred the wedding of Mrs. Carrie Tomlinson of St. Paul and Frank Tomlinson of Braynard, Minn. Rev. C. A. O'Neil performed the wedding. They were attended by Mrs. Geo. Hinkley and Mrs. A. C. Hinkley, both of Nekoosa.

Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson are visiting relatives at Nekoosa a few days before going on to St. Paul where they will make their future home.

Sonny!

A plaint that has fallen from the lips of sacrificing motherhood ever since the world was born.

"Sonny."

The one word epitomizes the theme of the First National attraction starring Richard Barthelmess. We can't say anything about the plot without giving away the joy of expectation—but you know Dick.

Simple, sincere, genuine. He has never done anything more human in its quiet, emotional appeal than this gripping drama of motherless manhood. Even "Tol'able David" with its compelling genuineness must bow to the humanity of "Sonny."

If you don't see this you miss something worth while. Come early 7 and 9

Palace Saturday

Although Rodolph Valentino, the handsome young actor who is appearing with Mae Murray in her starring vehicle "The Delicious Little Devil" at the Palace Theatre, Saturday, was born in Taranto, he seldom displays the fiery temper which is accepted as characteristic of the Italian Flying Corps, conducting every way to rouse his ire, and that is by spelling his first name Rudolph instead of Rodolph. Valentino is the son of a captain in the Italian army, and he was himself attched to the Italiar Flying Corps, conducting experiments in hazardous air stunts at Mincola and he naturally dislikes the Teutonic spelling of his given name

Valentino began his public career as an automobile racer in Italy, winning second honors in a race between Naples and Rome in 1908, at the age of sixteen. His first stage appearance in America was as a dancer in New York, and for two yers he toured the country as Joan Sawyer's dancing partner. He sang and danced in musical comedy for a season, and rounded out his age career by a year with the Alcazar Stock Company in San Francisco.

GRUWELL'S IDEAL THEATER

Constance Talmadge points a moral in a delightfully humorous vein to all stage struck girls in "Polly of the Follies" which will be given its final showings at Gruwell's Ideal Theatre tonight. She shows that there is considerably more than simple a desire to making good on the stage.

Little Polly Meachan, the drudge of the village drug store, had a talent for theatricals and put on a "darned good show" for the kids, at the drug store when old Silas was at a "meetin'" of the village board, but when she finally broke into the bright lights under Flo Ziegfeld's banner, she broke out again with swiftness.

This picture is so refreshingly different from the usual that it is bound to have a surprise for everyone. Anita Loos and John Emerson have built a whimsical scenario for "Polly of the Follies" that carries a real love story through all sorts of by-paths. In its way this offering of the spritely Constance is quite as notable as the wonderful "Smilin' Through" of her sister Norma which pleased so well and everyone who can, should see "Polly of the Follies" at its final showings tonight.

"Living Lies" an emotional drama produced by Mayflower, the company that made "The Miracle Man" is the feature for "Bargain Night" at Gruwell's Ideal Theatre this week. With it comes the current chapter of "Buffalo Bill" and a Bobby Ray comedy. On Saturday we welcome a new western star, Pete Morrison in a "semi western love story "The Better Man Wins" together with a Tweedy comedy and "The Blue Fox" while Sunday's bill includes Jack Holt in his newest vehicle "The Man Unconquerable."

Miss Esther Kerkamp of Arpin has accepted a position as saleslady in the W. C. Weisel store.

Double Soap Without Increased Size

Would you buy cornmeal mixed with sawdust simply because it might be cheaper than another sackful of pure cornmeal? Then, why buy ordinary white or yellow laundry soap when it is mixed with "filler" to make a little soap look like a full-size bar?

This may be news to you, but it's something fabric makers have known for years. They avoid the common laundry soap and wash their materials with olive oil soap.

All the energy you spend rubbing "filler" into clothes is wasted, for the "filler" has no cleaning power. Worse than that, it cuts and rots the fabrics. Soon little holes and thin spots appear and you blame the goods or the woman who washes.

Get the new, large, greenish laundry bar called GREEN ARROW, containing—not "filler"—but real olive oil and naphtha. It's the olive oil whiteness, softness and sweetness that makes new materials so attractive when you buy them. You can keep your clothes like new if you wash them with a soap like this.

Pure GREEN ARROW is made by The Palmolive Co. No soap maker could afford to use olive oil in a home laundry soap if it were not for an enormous output of olive oil products, in which The Palmolive Co. leads the world. Every home that gets this large greenish laundry bar gets the benefit of their quantity production in the form of a finer laundry soap than you ever dreamed you could have, and one that goes nearly twice as far as the ordinary because it is all soap—hence all cleaning power.

It never makes hands red, dry or rough. Order it from your grocer, but be sure to use less soap.

Muco-Solvent Salve Is Best Remedy

Said to Relieve Worst Kind of a Cold In One Night—Safe and Simple To Use

From all sides comes interesting reports of wonderful results obtained from the use of Muco-Solvent Salve in the treatment of colds and la grippe.

Emphasis is also laid upon the fact that this simple remedy is equally effective for adults and children, and being applied externally, it cannot cause derangement of the organs of digestion and elimination.

Next to its efficacy the outstanding virtue is the utter simplicity of the treatment.

Inhale the Vapors.

For ordinary cold in head melt a little Muco Salve in a spoon or tin cup and inhale the vapors, taking long, deep breaths. Relief is positively instantaneous for the nasal passages are immediately opened. Then insert salve in each nostril and breathe deeply to clear the upper respiratory tract.

Rub on Chest.

If the cold is of long standing, follow the above method and rub Muco Salve liberally on chest, afterward covering same with warm cloths to promote absorption. Thus the congestion is scattered and if the patient will take a good laxative, cold will be about gone by morning.

While the treatment is absurdly simple and is really based upon grandmother's old time poultices and plasters, the compounding of Muco-Solvent Salve is an operation requiring a knowledge of many scientific facts. The formula is the result of patient experiments and represents long laboratory research. This possibly accounts for the fact that similar preparations do not seem to be as effective.

No More Influenza.

It is now predicted that the general use of Muco Salve will have much to do with the prevention of influenza. Especially if used as a preventive after being in the same room, lodge hall, church or other places where there are persons, young or old, with colds; for colds are very contagious and are the forerunner of la grippe, influenza and pneumonia.

Only 25 Cents

By reason of an enormous output, Muco-Solvent Salve is sold at the reasonable price of 25 cents for the home size jar. It is therefore within the reach of poor and rich alike. At all druggists everywhere, among them Model Drug Store, Wood County Drug Store, Sam Church Drug Co., Otto's Pharmacy, and John E. Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.—Advertisement.

DEMITZ—GANZER

Miss Natalie Demitz, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Demitz, of Wisconsin Rapids, and Mr. Harvey Ganzer of Oshkosh were married Wednesday evening, Nov. 8th, at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Henry C. Demitz. The marriage service was read by Rev. C. A. Meilicke, pastor of the First Moravian church. The contracting parties were attended by Miss Bernice Cundy and Mr. George Johnson, both of Oshkosh. The ceremony took place in the living room, the bridal party standing in front of the fire place which was banked with ferns, high bush cranberries, and snow berries. The bride wore a gown of brown roshanara crepe and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Cundy's dress was of blue roshanara crepe and she also carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

A wedding dinner was served to twenty-two guests, which included immediate relatives and a few girl friends of the bride. The table decorations were yellow and white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride was born and brought up in Wisconsin Rapids. After graduating from the Lincoln High School she attended the Stevens Point Normal and upon finishing her education served as stenographer in the local First National Bank, resigning her position at the end of three years to accept a position of the same kind with the First National Bank at Marshfield. She resigned the latter after three years employment to become the bride of Mr. Ganzer. Mr. and Mrs. Ganzer left Wednesday evening on a bridal trip to Chicago, from where they will return to Park Falls for the winter. Mr. Ganzer is at present employed in that city as foreman for the C. R. Meyers & Sons Construction Co.

Clemenceau Emmissary Of Good Will He Tells Press

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 9—Former Premier Clemenceau on the eve of his departure for the United States, declared the object of his trip would be "to create a state of mind in the United States which will permit in the near future—I hope in the near future—negotiations between public bodies leading to understandings capable of producing results."

He added that he believed peace in Europe was based on the friendly relations between America, England and France and his object would be to bring to America the full spirit of that fact.

Clemenceau gave no motive underlying his visit, in reply to Hutin's observation that a man of his age would not undertake, in the winter months, the worries and fatigue of such a trip without feeling confident that his country would benefit thereby.

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

WHAT IS THE USE OF HAVING A RADIO STATION?

Many a beginner has been discouraged in his plans for a radio station by older people saying, "You will soon get tired of it," and "It will cost a lot of money once you get started into it," or the crank will tell them, "No, you can't put an aerial on my house to attract lightning, etc." But boys, do not let any of the above or any other suggestions deter you, for radio is one indoor sport that never grows old or tiresome, and the writer speaks from experience after 15 years of it.

You do not have to wait for good weather to enjoy radio. In fact, it is one sport that you can enjoy when you have to remain home from others. After you learn the code, there are unlimited openings for you to become a regular bug. Those who just listen in, haven't felt the thrill of real radio.

Radio telephony is coming into its own by leaps and bounds both in experimental and commercial use. If you have a good radiophone transmitting station it is possiblue to say hello Detroit this is Chicago or hello Baltimore this is New York and to have some station answer you immediately. You then get your first thrill, but there are many more thrills coming to you if you only stick with us.

It is always advisable to install a receiving set first. For a local set, you can build one or rather assemble it in an hour or so. After you have your receiving set for a time you will naturally pick up the code if you are at all inquisitive for you will want to know what all these dits and daws mean that you hear going through the air.

There is no reason for buying an expensive set to start in with and in fact, it is much better to buy parts and assemble them. In this way you learn the why and the wherefore of each part and its relation to the others. It is much more pleasant to rig up a simple outfit and to get results than to fuss with a complicated set and not get results.

Radio work offers to the younger minds a tremendously valuable developer of logical and analytical thinking more effective than school book methods because this object is accomplished while affording entertainment.

After you have become able to operate your set and get good results from it, you can then entertain the rest of the family and even your friends. By the aid of an improvised loud speaker you can really entertain all that a room will accommodate. On account of so many stations broadcasting, you can just about choose your programs.

Radio telephony offers big possibilities for the young man who will study it thoroughly and to do that, it is almost necessary to have one of the sets at home to experiment with. The cost is small and the returns are large from an educational standpoint.

Some colleges are putting in radiophone transmitting sets with the intention of broadcasting at regular periods so as to teach one of their regular courses by radio and absolutely free.

What is the use of having a radio station has so many answers that it would take a book to name them. The outstanding ones are, the enjoyment it brings to you by listening in on entertaining programs, church services on Sunday, health talks, educational talks and the information received from working at your instruments. The question should be, how can we live without one?

POINTERS

A good crystal set gives perfect reproduction of radiophone concerts. Do not expect good results with an indoor aerial using a crystal detector. You cannot tune as closely on a crystal set as you can with an audion. If you attach one end of your aerial to a tree or tall pole that is not guyed properly, the wind will sway either of them and probably break your aerial.

If you use rope as halyards for your aerial, they should be slacked off when it rains, as the rope contracts when wet. If the rope does not break it is a great strain on your aerial supports.

NEXT LESSON—The Radio Telegraph Code.

Kilbourne Eleven Defeats Nekoosa By 12 - 6 Score

The football game at Nekoosa yesterday between the Alexander High School eleven and the Kilbourn team ended in a score of 12 to 6 in favor of Kilbourn.

The Kilbourn boys were much heavier than the Nekoosa boys but found strong resistance in trying to break through Nekoosa's lines. At one time Kilbourn was within one foot of the goal but Nekoosa held their own and did not allow them to break through.

The first touch down by the Kilbourn team came in the first quarter of the game, the Nekoosa team scoring in the second quarter, making the score at the end of the first half 6 to 6.

The Kilbourn boys scored again in the third quarter, making the score 12 to 6. Neither team scored in the last quarter.

It was a good game throughout and Coach Schrank of the Nekoosa team expressed himself as well pleased by ability and judgement showed by his team.

CAPACITY CROWD WILL SEE ILLINI-BADGER CONTEST

THOUSANDS DISAPPOINTED IN RUSH FOR SEATS AT WISCONSIN'S HOMECOMING GAME SATURDAY

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9—As has been and always will be the case, many people will be disappointed with their seats at the Homecoming game with Illinois here Saturday but with applications for nearly 40,000 tickets when the seating capacity of the present permanent stands is only about 14,000 it is evident that all cannot secure sideline seats near the center of the field.

In an effort to accomodate as many spectators as possible Director T. E. Jones has had nearly 13,000 additional seats added in bleachers above the West stands and at the ends of the field and in boxes on the track on both sides of the field.

Under the contract of the visiting team, 1,000 tickets were sent to the University of Illinois for sale to the Illinois partisans, while all the rest, more than 25,000 were sold here by mail and distributed under the direction of Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales, who with a force of twelve men worked nearly 20 hours a day for two weeks distributing the tickets.

Turned Back Thousands

Nearly 2,000 applications for more than 6,000 tickets were returned after all the tickets were disposed of. Under the system used for the distribution of tickets, the applications were filled in the order in which they were received, and the men who issued the tickets did not know for whom they were issued.

The tickets nearest the center of the field in each class, $5.00, $2.50, $2.00 and $1.50 were issued first, according to the price paid by the applicant, thus those who sent in their orders first received the best seats. When the supply of tickets of one class were exhausted the applicant was given the next best seats available together with a refund, and it was necessary to refund thousands of dollars in this manner.

The envelop containing the tickets was sealed in the presence of an officer from the postoffice, who approved and praised the system used and the postal authorities gave every possible co-operation in the early dispatching of the tickets.

Will Nab Scalpers

With all tickets placed in the mails, federal authorities are co-operating with the University authorities to prevent the scalping of tickets. A large force of federal authorities in Madison today and were detailed to work in the hotels, depots, cigar stores, billiard and bowling halls, etc. As was the case at the Chicago-Princeton game and at the Minnesota game last week it is expected a number of arrests will be made for scalping and the original purchasers of those tickets placed on the black list.

Kidnaped

A reward of 1,000,000 Polish crowns has been offered for the discovery of the youthful Count Borvervoski. He disappeared from his home near Warsaw and is thought to have been kidnaped.

the upper house. On most important measures these senators will stand with the governor's forces, judging by their action in past legislatures. They may hold the balance of power in the legislature.

Wels May Rule

The defeat of Senator Dennhardt in the nineteenth district by Merritt White, anti-LaFollette man, gives the wets hope for control of both houses of the legislature. In this event important changes are expected in the state prohibition enforcement law.

The governor is confident of his control of the senate as well as the assembly, and expects that enough administration men have been elected to assure them a majority when organization of the upper house is undertaken on the night of January 9. Indications are, however, that this control will be dependent upon a change in the political affiliations of one or more senators.

FINAL COUNT TO SHOW LAFOLLETTE LEAD OF 250,000

SENATOR AND GOVERNOR BOTH ROLL UP TREMENDOUS MAJORITIES; TWO AMENDMENTS DEFEATED

(By Associated Press)

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 9—With more than three-fourths of the precincts in Wisconsin reported on Tuesday's election, available figures indicate that further returns will show United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette to have a majority of approximately 250,000 over his opponents Jessie Jack Hooper, Independent Democrat, and A. Buchnam, prohibition candidate.

In 1721 precincts out of 2533 in the state, LaFollette got 237,882; Hooper 58,626; Buchnam, 1,078. Governor Blaine leads the rest of the Progressive Republican ticket, and was re-elected by about the same vote as Senator LaFollette. Blaine received from 1692 precincts, 267,575; Beatley, Independent Democrat, 38,556 and Arnold, Socialist, 35,384.

The rest of the Republican ticket have overwhelming pluralities.

One Amendment Passed

Scattered returns on the proposed constitutional amendments indicate the defeat of the one which would permit cities to increase their indebtedness, also the proposition for sheriffs to succeed themselves. The proposed measure which would permit five-sixths of a jury sitting in civil cases to return a verdict, appeared to have been ratified.

Victor L. Berger, re-elected to Congress from the 5th district, feels confident he will be seated when he goes to Washington. When he was elected previously, he had been refused a seat. He feels that there is no more case against him since the supreme court ruled in his favor, over Judge Landis in whose court he was convicted of violation of the espionage law.

The Wisconsin congressional delegation will be comprised of ten Republicans and one Socialist, a loss of one Republican from the present status.

— THIS IS POTATO WEEK —

This week is known as State Potato Week, in order to help the farmer. Buy your winter's supply of potatoes this week. Most people are holding off and not buying potatoes. If every family in Wisconsin Rapids would buy just one bushel of potatoes this week think of the money that would go back to the farmer. The potato crop was a large one this year and they are cheap also, in many cases the farmer was not able to get the cost of digging an acre of potatoes when brought upon the market. Don't forget every bushel of potatoes bought this week means a great help to the farmer.

DEMITZ—GANZER

Miss Natalie Demitz, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Demitz, of Wisconsin Rapids, and Mr. Harvey Ganzer of Oshkosh were married Wednesday evening, Nov. 8th, at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Henry C. Demitz. The marriage service was read by Rev. C. A. Mellicke, pastor of the First Moravian church. The contracting parties were attended by Miss Bernice Cundy and Mr. George Johnson, both of Oshkosh. The ceremony took place in the living room, the bridal party standing in front of the fire place which was banked with ferns, high bush cranberries, and snow berries. The bride wore a gown of brown roshanara crepe and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Cundy's dress was of blue roshanara crepe and she also carried an arm bouquet of yellow chysanthemums.

A wedding dinner was served to twenty-two guests, which included immediate relatives and a few girl friends of the bride. The table decorations were yellow and white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride was born and brought up in Wisconsin Rapids. After graduating from the Lincoln High School she attended the Stevens Point Normal and upon finishing her education served as stenographer in the local First National Bank, resigning her position at the end of three years to accept a position of the same kind with the First National Bank at Marshfield. She resigned the latter after three years employment to become the bride of Mr. Ganzer. Mr. and Mrs. Ganzer left Wednesday evening on a bridal trip to Chicago, from where they will return to Park Falls for the winter. Mr. Ganzer is at present employed in that city as foreman for the G. R. Meyers & Sons Construction Co.

TOMLINSON—TOMLINSON

Sonny!

A plant that has fallen from lips of sacrificing motherhood ever since the world was born.

"Sonny."

The one word epitomizes the theme of the First National attraction starring Richard Barthelmess. We can't say anything about the plot without giving away the joy of expectation—but you know Dick.

Simple, sincere, genuine. He has never done anything more human in its quiet, emotional appeal than this gripping drama of motherless manhood. Even "Tol'able David" with its compelling genuineness must bow to the humanity of "Sonny."

If you don't see this you miss something worth while. Come early 7 and 9

Palace Saturday

Although Rodolph Valentino, the handsome young actor who is appearing with Mae Murray in her starring vehicle "The Delicious Little Devil" at the Palace Theatre, Saturday, was born in Taranto, he seldom displays the fiery temper which is accepted as characteristic of the Italian Flying Corps, conducting every way to rouse his ire, and that is by spelling his first name Rudolph instead of Rodolph. Valentino is the son of a captain in the Italian army, and he was himself attched to the Italian Flying Corps, conducting experiments in hazardous air stunts at Mineola and he naturally dislikes the Teutonic spelling of his given name

Valentino began his public career as an automobile racer in Italy, winning second honors in a race between Naples and Rome in 1908, at the age of sixteen. His first stage appearance in America was as a dancer in New York, and for two yers he toured the country as Joan Sawyer's dancing partner. He sang and danced in musical comedy for a season, and rounded out his age career by a year with the Alcazar Stock Company in San Francisco.

GRUWELL'S IDEAL THEATER

Constance Talmadge points a moral in a delightfully humorous vein to all stage struck girls in "Polly of the Follies" which will be given its final showings at Gruwell's Ideal Theatre tonight. She shows that there is considerably more than simple a desire to making good on the stage.

Little Polly Meachan, the drudge of the village drug store, had a talent for theatricals and put on a "darned good show" for the kids, at the drug store when old Silas was at a "meetin'" of the village board, but when she finally broke into the bright lights under Flo Ziegfeld's banner, she broke out again with swiftness.

This picture is so refreshingly different from the usual that it is bound to have a surprise for everyone. Anita Loos and John Emerson have built a whimsical scenario for "Polly of the Follies" that carries a real love story through all sorts of by-paths. In its way this offering of the spritely Constance is quite as notable as the wonderful "Smilin' Through" of her sister Norma which pleased so well and everyone who can, should see "Polly of the Folies" at its final showings tonight.

"Living Lies" an emotional drama produced by Mayflower, the company that made "The Miracle Man" is the feature for "Bargain Night" at Gruwell's Ideal Theatre this week. With it comes the current chapter of "Buffalo Bill" and a Bobby Ray comedy. On Saturday we welcome a new western star, Pete Morrison in a western love story "The Better Man Wins" together with a Tweedy comedy and "The Blue Fox" while Sunday's bill includes Jack Holt in his newest vehicle "The Man Unconquerable."

Double Soap Without Increased Size

Would you buy cornmeal mixed with meadow simply because it might be cheaper than an unmixed sack full of pure cornmeal? Then, why buy ordinary white or yellow laundry soap when it is mixed with "filler" to make a little soap look like a full-size bar?

This may be news to you, but it's something fabric makers have known for years. They avoid the common laundry soap and wash their materials with olive oil soap.

All the energy you spend rubbing "filler" into clothes is wasted, for the "filler" has no cleaning power. Worse than that, it cuts and rots the fabrics. Soon little holes and thin spots appear and you blame the goods or the woman who washes.

Get the new, large, greenish laundry bar called GREEN ARROW, containing—not "filler"—but real olive oil and naphtha. It's the olive oil whiteness, softness and sweetness that makes new materials so attractive when you buy them. You can keep your clothes like new if you wash them with a soap like this.

Pure GREEN ARROW is made by The Palmolive Co. No soap maker could afford to use olive oil in a home laundry soap if it were not for an enormous output of olive oil products, in which The Palmolive Co. leads the world. Every home that gets this large greenish laundry bar gets the benefit of their quantity production in the form of a finer laundry soap than you ever dreamed you could have, and one that goes nearly thrice as far as the ordinary because it is all soap—hence all cleaning power.

It never makes hands red, dry or rough. Order it from your grocer, but be sure to use less soap.

COLDS ARE CONTAGIOUS—BEWARE! FIRST SNEEZE IS YOUR WARNING

Dr. L. W. Griffin, Neenah, Wisconsin, practicing physician and throat specialist, during an epidemic of diphtheria used one prescription with great success.

His treatment dissolved and disintegrated the phlegm or mucous and assisted nature to carry the accumulated mass. The same prescription used for la grippe, tonsilitis, asthma, bronchitis, quinsy, whooping cough and kindred diseases, produced further marvelous results.

Dr. Griffin's prescription has become known among the druggists of the country as Muco-Solvent Liquid. It is sold to the extent of thousands of bottles each year and today, forty years after its first use, is considered a valuable ally in many homes.

If you have an affliction seemingly impossible of correction get a bottle of Muco-Solvent Liquid (75c and $1.50 at druggists) and take it according to directions. It is not an opiate and is absolutely safe for child or adult, being purely vegetable, composed of antiseptics so combined as to produce a specific for suppurative and inflammatory diseases of the mucous membrane.

MOTHER!

BABY'S NOSE IS RUNNING

Bring the jar of Muco Salve, quick! Just a bit of this wonderful preparation in baby's nostrils opens his head, soothes and heals the delicate membranes of the nasal passages and respiratory tract.

No nasty medicines. No upset stomach. No sick baby. No danger.

If Taken In Hand At Once Cold Can Be Stopped In Thirty Minutes

Muco-Solvent Salve Is Best Remedy

Said to Relieve Worst Kind of a Cold In One Night—Safe and Simple To Use

From all sides comes interesting reports of wonderful results obtained from the use of Muco-Solvent Salve in the treatment of colds and la grippe.

Emphasis is also laid upon the fact that this simple remedy is equally effective for adults and children, and being applied externally, it cannot cause derangement of the organs of digestion and elimination.

Next to its efficacy the outstanding virtue is the utter simplicity of the treatment.

Inhale the Vapors.

For ordinary cold in head melt a little Muco Salve in a spoon or tin cup and inhale the vapors, taking long deep breaths. Relief is positively instantaneous for the nasal passages are immediately opened. Then insert salve in each nostril and breathe deeply to clear the upper respiratory tract.

Rub on Chest.

If the cold is of long standing, follow the above method and rub Muco Salve liberally on chest, afterward covering same with warm cloths to promote absorption. Thus the congestion is scattered and if the patient will take a good laxative, cold will be about gone by morning.

While the treatment is absurdly simple and is really based upon grandmother's old time poultices and plasters, the compounding of Muco-Solvent Salve is an operation requiring a knowledge of many scientific facts. The formula is the result of patient experiments and represents long laboratory research. This possibly accounts for the fact that similar preparations do not seem to be as effective.

No More Influenza.

It is now predicted that the general use of Muco Salve will have much to do with the prevention of influenza. Especially if used as a preventive after being in the same room, lodge hall, church or other places where there are persons, young or old, with colds; for colds are very contagious and are the forerunner of la grippe, influenza and pneumonia.

Only 25 Cents

By reason of an enormous output, Muco-Solvent Salve is sold at the reasonable price of 25 cents for the home size jar. It is therefore within the reach of poor and rich alike. At all druggists everywhere, among them Model Drug Store, Wood County Drug Store, Sam Church Drug Co., Otto's Pharmacy, and John E. Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.—Advertisement.

SCORES AGAIN WITH A BIG ONE!

You'll remember the boy who takes a dead buddy's place in a home to mother's heart. Only a mother knows the difference. Then the heartaches of a lifetime make him want to be "Sonny" always to the sweet old mother—but he cannot live a lie.

Then, too, he falls in love with the girl supposed to be his own sister

True as "Tol'able David." But different!

To the point of perfection he carries his portrayal of motherless-manhood, trying—lying—to hold the love of the woman who calls him "Sonny."

It stands among the most human plays and as one of the greatest individual triumphs ever ramated from the screen.

SEE BIG FUTURE IN BADGER STATE BUTTER INDUSTRY

DEVELOPMENT OF MARKET FOR HIGH QUALITY PRODUCT IS BIGGEST NEED DEAN RUSSELL SAYS

Madison—Wisconsin has a great opportunity to spread more of the bread of the world.

H. L. Russell, dean of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, says so.

"The state already has the dairy cattle, the pasturelands, the crops, the climate, the dairymen, the buttermakers, and all of the other production facilities for a wonderful butter industry," he delares. The one greatest need, according to him, is to develop a special market for butter of high quality.

Transportation Available

Considered from the standpoint of transportation facilities, we are, he believes, in an extremely favorable position to market her product. Direct connection, both by rail and by boat, with the best and biggest markets, is available.

Dean Russell sees in federated creameries and orderly marketing methods, a cure for some of our dairy ills. He believes that thousands of dollars can be saved the dairymen of the state by employing these two agencies in disposing of the milk of the two million dairy cows constituting the cow population of the Badger state.

Favor Co-Op Creameries

That federated creameries are paying big dividends to their patrons, and making one of the most profitable investments for dairymen of Wisconsin, is the view held by H. C. Larson, secretary of the Wisconsin Buttermakers' Association.

"There is no question" he says, "but that cooperative creameries are paying more money to the farmers for a pound of butterfat."

Russell and Larson both point to Polk county as an example of what cooperation has done in supporting and pushing the dairy industry in Wisconsin and helping her to maintain the lead as the greatest of all dairy states.

Up in Polk county, every creamery is cooperative, and there are 20 creameries in Polk county. They produced last year, over 5,000,000 pounds of butter and will increase this output to 6,000,000 pounds this year, according to present reports.

These 20 cooperative creameries increased the butter returns to the dairymen of the county about $50,000. By shipping in carlots to the big eastern markets, at least $20,000 annually is saved the farmers in freight rates.

Hen Challenges Bee's Reputation For Industry

Madison—No longer can the busy bee lay such undisputed claim to the limelight as the outstanding example of industry. She must share this reputation with biddy and look carefully to her laurels if she does not have stronger competition than expected from this source.

Twenty-five Plymouth Rock pullets in the flock of the University of Wisconsin recently completed a fourteen day record with 241 eggs to their credit. These pullets were hatched in March and are of high production strain. Their sire is a full brother to a hen making an official record of 324 eggs in 12 months. One of their dams has already laid 231 eggs and still has one month to go to complete her first year's production. Several others are well over the 200 egg mark. Still another of the dams made a unique record by beginning December 31, 1921, and laying one egg a day for 38 consecutive days without a miss.

The record show, declares Mr. Halpin of the poultry department, that whenever any breed is carefully bred and fed for egg production, it can be made to lay very heavily.

New Oat Variety Produces Record Yield At Ashland

Ashland Junction—Another member has been added to Wisconsin's oat family. It has been named "Forward" in honor of the state.

The new variety was developed at the branch station of the University of Wisconsin and is proving its right to the throne in Wisconsin's oat kingdom.

It outdistanced its nearest competitor by more than six and one half bushels to the acre in the present season's race, according to E. J. Delwiche, agronomist in charge of the plant located here.

A lead of 17½ bushels to the acre over Swedish Select, the variety of oats most commonly grown in this section. was easily attained by the "Forward."

The new variety has outyielded its nearest competitor four bushels to the acre over an eight-year period.

The original selection, from which "Forward" has been developed, was made at the Experiment Station here in 1911. Last spring over 800 bushels were distributed in Upper Wisconsin from the branch station alone. Besides this amount, several large growers also disseminated seed.

LIME PRODUCING RESULTS IN STATE

GRIFFITH RICHARDS TELLS OF ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN SOUTHERN COUNTIES; INCREASE CROPS

Madison, Wis.—"The farmers are falling in line with the liming idea," says Griffith Richards of the soils department of the University of Wisconsin. "It was only the general financial depression that kept them from using an unusual amount this year."

Mr. Richards is in charge of the lime extension work in the 26 southern counties of Wisconsin and has demonstration plots in ten of them These plots are run in cooperation with the county agents, the Smith Hughes agricultural high school teachers, and in some cases directly with the farmers.

The number of plots is being increased just as rapdily as is practical, and in a short time it is hoped to have a number of plots showing the worth of lime in each county.

"The lime is added just before the seeding of small grains, and clover or alfalfa is seeded with them," says Mr. Richards. "There has been a remarkable increase in the crops; the small grains show an increase of from five to twelve bushels per acre, and the clover from 500 to 1,900 pounds to an acre. In some cases the lime has not been the limiting factor, but phosphorus is also needed.

Reports from 20 of the 26 counties show that last year there were 9,000 tons of lime used, while in 1921 there were 6,000 tons. The soils department at the University tested twice as many samples of limestone this year as they did last year, reports Mr. Richards.

This increase was taken care of by the local crushers, rather than by the large limestone crushing companies, for partial reports from the companies show a decrease for 1922.

"Local crushing is becoming a real factor in the liming industry, for the farmers can save at least a dollar a ton in all the sections and furthermore, the limestone is there to be hauled whenever it is convenient for the farmer," Richards says. "When the limestone is brought from one of the companies, it has to be hauled when it arrives.

"I am more than pleased with the situation," declares Richards. "for last year we had an attendance of over 4,000 t our 17 meetings, besides our field demonstrations. With better times coming the farmers will be using more lime."

Plan Highway Financing

Madison, Wis.—Highway construction and maintenance in Wisconsin for the present year will cost approximately $36,893,700, the legislative committee of the county boards association says in its summary of highway expenditures to be submitted to the county boards November 14.

County funds provide $19,351,600 of the total available money for highway expenditures in the state, town funds $10,329,800, state funds, $5,515,300 and federal funds $1,697,000, the report shows. This does not include funds expended on city streets which are raised in the municipalities.

County funds totalling $19,351,600 were raised for the following purposes: federal aid road construction $1,695,200 from a direct county tax; state aid roads, $3,214,700 from a direct county tax; state aid roads; $9,211,700 from bond issues; state highway maintenance, $371,900 from direct tax; county highway maintenance, $1,374,100 from direct tax; county highway maintenance $976,800 from motor vehicle fees; county aid, roads and bridges, $1,035,000 from a direct tax; machinery, supervision and miscellaneous $1,471,000 from a direct tax.

Towns raised $8,600,000 from a direct town tax for town road construction and maintenance; $1,035,000 from a direct tax for county aid roads and bridges and $694,000 from a direct tax for state roads.

The $5,515,300 raised by the state came from the following sources: federal aid road construction $1,700,000 from a direct state tax; federal aid construction, $711,000 from motor vehicle fees; state aid road construction, $785,000 from the state general fund; special large bridges, $100,000 from the general fund; state highway maintenance, $2,051,100 from motor vehicle fees, state highway commission, $168,000 from motor vehicle fees.

Federal funds of $1,697,000 came from federal taxes, the report shows.

The cost of maintaining the state trunk hgihway system is supposed to be paid by the state out of motor vehicle fees." The report says. "A's a matter of fact, this is not sufficient for the purpose and additional funds are being raised from year to year by the counties through tax levies. This maintenance will cost approximately $2,422,900 on 1922 of which the state will furnish $2,051,000 out of county taxes levied on real and personal property.

Profits Ahead For Owners Of Sheep In State

Madison—There are only two-thirds as many flocks of sheep in the state as in 1920.

That is the estimate of Frank Kleinheinz, veteran shepherd of the University of Wisconsin of Wisconsin and he regards as conservative this rating of the reduction of the past year. He is certain, too, that breeders and feeders are waking up to the fact that the low prices of wool and mutton last year have made striking ravages on the lamb crop, and many feedlots will have a "lonesome" appearance due to the inability to get thin western stock.

Three principal markets report a decrease in supply for the period last year. This was due chiefly to the depletions of breeding flocks and unfavorable physical conditions in the northwest at lambing time. Of this decrease Chicago recorded 550,000; Omaha 305,000; and Kansas City 210,000. At intervals recently Kansas City has been without sufficient sheep to make a market.

Last year feeders in the cornbelt either could not buy feeding lambs or were afraid to buy them. This year they have been paying fat lamb prices for feeders and clamoring for more.

"Discouraged over the long wool slump, Wisconsin breeders sold their flocks and young breeding ewes when prices were good last winter," says Kleinheinz. "Now men going back into the sheep industry are being forced to pay high prices for breeding stock. The future for the man with a good flock is certainly very bright."

Test Associations Needed To Furnish Facts On Costs

Madison, Wis—The dairymen's first need is to have facts on milk costs if he is to successfully carry on his business, the Wisconsin College of Agriculture advises in a bulletin published today. This need, it says, has been partially met by the 70 cow-testing organized in the state.

"Profits in the production of milk depend on the difference between the costs and the selling price," the bulletin adds. "The dairymen's first need is to have facts on milk costs, because his profits depend entirely on the extent to which he can produce below his selling price.

"It is possible to obtain more complete dairy cost figures by supplementing the work of the present cow testing associations. Associations using a more comprehensive plan for study may be distinguished from the ordinary testing association by the term milk testing cost association.

The college bulletin gives in detail the methods for determining milks costs and outlines for the farmers a plan for ascertaining the cost of keeping each cow and the return it gives in milk.

Urge Consumers To Put In Winter Spud Stocks

Merchants of Wisconsin Rapids are cooperating with the state department of markets in encouraging the sale of potatoes this week, proclaimed as State Potato Week by Governor Blaine.

The purpose of setting aside a "Potato Week" is to encourage householders to put in supplies of potatoes for the winter at the present time while the market is flooded and furers are having difficulty in disposing of their crops. In this way it is expected that not only will consumers obtain their potatoes at low prices, but farmers will be aided in disposing of their crops before winter comes

The chief importance is attributed to the movement in the larger centers where hundreds of car loads of potatoes are standing on the tracks awaiting buyers, but it is pointed out that much can also be accomplished by consumers near the growing districts purchasing their supplies for the winter.

FARMERS URGED TO SIGN UP FOR TUBERCULIN TEST

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT PETERSON TELLS HOW COUNTY WIDE TEST WILL AID DAIRY INDUSTRY

BY R. A. PETERSON

Approximately one out of every four hogs and a liberal percentage of the cattle shipped from Wisconsin farms to packing plants are tuberculous. Other states have even more tuberculosis among cattle. Packers protect themselves against losses by lowering prices, and, conequently Wisconsin farmers annually lose approximately $2,000,000. Buyers are avoiding untested cattle and pay higher prices for cattle from herds tested in their entirety. An increase of ten cents per hundred pounds is offered by packers for hogs coming from farms having accredited herds, or from tuberculosis free areas. This increase would have added $884,000 to the receipts of Wisconsin farmers. Wood county's share of this would have amounted to $12,000.

It is evideont that bovine tuberculosis is a great economic loss; it is also a menace to the health of the human family. Twenty-five per cent and more of tuberculosis among children under sixteen years of age is of the bovine type. The above facts backed up by the investigations of men of authority point out the need of the tuberculin test by every cattle owner in Wisconsin.

Considerable work has already been done in Wood county relative to getting the signature of the cattle owners of the county on the petitions for the county wide test. It is necessary to have the signatures of at least sixty per cent of the farmers of the county in order to have the county test. The larger part of the necessary signatures have already been obtained and petitions are still in the hands of the progressive farmers who are boosting for the county cleanup. Indications are that the required sixty per cent will have been obtained so that the testing can be started early in the spring. A large number of herds have already been tested, many of them are on the federal accredited list. A number of other cattle owners have also made application for the federal test. Practically all of the dairymen supplying milk to the retail markets of Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield have had their herds tested for tuberculosis. The percentage of tubercular cattle that have been found in these herds has been rather low. The tests made thus far indicate that the percentage of reactors in Wood county will be comparatively low, averaging well with that of the fifteen Wisconsin counties that have already had the county wide tests. The precentage of reactors in these counties has in most cases been less than one percent. A test in time save nine, however, so it behooves Wood county to adopt the county wide program as soon as possible.

Wood county livestock interests are considerable and the future of that industry should be protected by having the present foundation stock tested in order that the tubercular animals are removed. Many dairymen are delaying the program by their indifference, not signing up and there by supporting the project, but by saying, "Well I'll not sign up but I'll test if the rest do." It is hoped that every dairyman in Wood county will awaken to the need for the test and get his name on the petition as soon as he can. Someone said, "Be not the first by whom the new is tried not yet the last to lay the old aside."

Clemenceau Emmissary Of Good Will He Tells Press

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 9—Former Premier Clemenceau on the eve of his departure for the United States, declared the object of his trip would be "to create a state of mind in the United States which will permit in the near future—I hope in the near future—negotiations between public bodies leading to understandings capable of producing results."

He added that he believed peace in Europe was based on the friendly relations between America, England and France and his object would be to bring to America the full spirit of that fact.

Clemenceau gave no motive underlying his visit, in reply to Hutin's observation that a man of his age would not undertake, in the winter months, the worries and fatigue of such a trip without feeling confident that his country would benefit thereby.

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

WHAT IS THE USE OF HAVING A RADIO STATION?

Many a beginner has been discouraged in his plans for a radio station by older people saying, "You will soon get tired of it," and "It will cost a lot of money once you get started into it," or the crank will tell them, "No, you can't put an aerial on my house to attract lightning, etc." But boys, do not let any of the above or any other suggestions deter you, for radio is one indoor sport that never grows old or tiresome, and the writer speaks from experience after 15 years of it.

You do not have to wait for good weather to enjoy radio. In fact, it is one sport that you can enjoy when you have to remain away from others. After you learn the code, there are unlimited openings for you to become a regular bug. Those who just listen in, haven't felt the thrill of real radio.

Radio telephony is coming into its own by leaps and bounds both in experimental and commercial use. If you have a good radiophone transmitting station it is possible to say hello Detroit this is Chicago or hello Baltimore this is New York and to have some station answer you immediately. You then get your first thrill, but there are many more thrills coming to you if you only stick with us.

It is always advisable to install a receiving set first. For a local set, you can build one or rather assemble it in an hour or so. After you have your receiving set for a time you will naturally pick up the code if you are at all inquisitive for you will want to know what all these dits and daws mean that you hear going through the air.

There is no reason for buying an expensive set to start in with and in fact, it is much better to buy parts and assemble them. In this way you learn the why and the wherefore of each part and its relation to the others. It is much more pleasant to rig up a simple outfit and to get results than to fuss with a complicated set and not get results.

Radio work offers to the younger minds a tremendously valuable developer of logical and analytical thinking more effective than school book methods because this object is accomplished while affording entertainment.

After you have become able to operate your set and get good results from it, you can then entertain the rest of the family and even your friends. By the aid of an improvised loud speaker you can really entertain all that a room will accommodate. On account of so many stations broadcasting, you can just about choose your programs.

Radio telephony offers big possibilities for the young man who will study it thoroughly and to do that, it is almost necessary to have one of the sets at home to experiment with. The cost is small and the returns are large from an educational standpoint.

Some colleges are putting in radiophone transmitting sets with the intention of broadcasting at regular periods so as to teach one of their regular courses by radio and absolutely free.

What is the use of having a radio station has so many answers that it would take a book to name them. The outstanding ones are, the enjoyment it brings to you by listening in on entertaining programs, church services on Sunday, health talks, educational talks and the information received from working at your instruments. The question should be, how can we live without one?

POINTERS

A good crystal set gives perfect reproduction of radiophone concerts. Do not expect good results with an indoor aerial using a crystal detector. You cannot tune as closely on a crystal set as you can with an audion. If you attach one end of your aerial to a tree or tall pole that is not guyed properly, the wind will sway either of them and probably break your aerial.

If you use rope as halyards for your aerial, they should be slacked off when it rains, as the rope contracts when wet. If the rope does not break it is a great strain on your aerial supports.

NEXT LESSON—The Radio Telegraph Code.

Kilbourne Eleven Defeats Nekoosa By 12 - 6 Score

The football game at Nekoosa yesterday between the Alexander High School eleven and the Kilbourn team ended in a score of 12 to 6 in favor of Kilbourn.

The Kilbourn boys were much heavier than the Nekoosa boys but found strong resistance in trying to break through Nekoosa's lines. At one time Kilbourn was within one foot of the goal but Nekoosa held their own and did not allow them to break through.

The first touch tdown by the Kilbourn team came in the first quarter of the game, the Nekoosa team scoring in the second quarter, making the score at the end of the first half 6 to 6.

The Kilbourn boys scored again in the third quarter, making the score 12 to 6. Neither team scored in the last quarter.

It was a good game throughout and Coach Schrank of the Nekoosa team expressed himself as well pleased by ability and judgement showed by his team.

CAPACITY CROWD WILL SEE ILLINI-BADGER CONTEST

THOUSANDS DISAPPOINTED IN RUSH FOR SEATS AT WISCONSIN'S HOMECOMING GAME SATURDAY

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9—As has been and always will be the case, many people will be disappointed with their seats at the Homecoming game with Illinois here Saturday but with applications for nearly 40,000 tickets when the seating capacity of the present permanent stands is only about 14,000 it is evident that all cannot secure sideline seats near the center of the field.

In an effort to accomodate as many spectators as possible Director T. E. Jones has had nearly 13,000 additional seats added in bleachers above the West stands and at the ends of the field and in boxes on the track on both sides of the field.

Under the contract of the visiting team, 1,000 tickets were sent to the University of Illinois for sale to the Illinois partisans, while all the rest, more than 25,000 were sold here by mail and distributed under the direction of Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales, who with a force of twelve men worked nearly 20 hours a day for two weeks distributing the tickets.

Turned Back Thousands

Nearly 2,000 applications for more than 6,000 tickets were returned after all the tickets were disposed of. Under the system used for the distribution of tickets, the applications were filled in the order in which they were received, and the men who issued the tickets did not know for whom they were issued.

The tickets nearest the center of the field in each class, $5.00, $2.50, $2.00 and $1.50 were issued first, according to the price paid by the applicant, thus those who sent in their orders first received the best seats. When the supply of tickets of one class were exhausted the applicant was given the next best seats available together with a refund, and it was necessary to refund thousands of dollars in this manner.

The envelop containing the tickets was sealed in the presence of an officer from the postoffice, who approved and praised the system used and the postal authorities gave every possible co-operation in the early dispatching of the tickets.

Will Nab Scalpers

With all tickets placed in the mails, federal authorities are co-operating with the University authorities to prevent the scalping of tickets. A large force of federal authorities in Madison today and were detailed to work in the hotels, depots, cigar stores, billiard and bowling halls, etc. As was the case at the Chicago-Princeton game and at the Minnesota game last week it is expected a number of arrests will be made for scalping and the original purchasers of those tickets placed on the black list.

Full Control Of State In Hands Of Progressives

the upper house. On most important measures these senators will stand with the governor's forces, judging by their action in past legislatures. They may hold the balance of power in the legislature.

Wets May Rule

The defeat of Senator Dennhardt in the nineteenth district by Merritt White, anti-LaFollette man, gives the wets hope for control of both houses of the legislature. In this event important changes are expected in the state prohibition enforcement law.

The governor is confident of his control of the senate as well as the assembly, and expects that enough administration men have been elected to assure them a majority when organization of the upper house is undertaken on the night of January 9. Indications are, however, that this control will be dependent upon a change in the political affiliations of one or more senators.

SENATOR AND GOVERNOR BOTH ROLL UP TREMENDOUS MAJORITIES; TWO AMENDMENTS DEFEATED

(By Associated Press)

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 9—With more than three-fourths of the precincts in Wisconsin reported on Tuesday's election, available figures indicate that further returns will show United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette to have a majority of approximately 250,000 over his opponents Jessie Jack Hooper, Independent Democrat, and A. Buchnam, prohibition candidate.

In 1721 precincts out of 2532 in the state, LaFollette got 237,852; Hooper 58,626; Buchnam, 1,078. Governor Blaine leads the rest of the Progressive Republican ticket, and was re-elected by about the same vote as Senator LaFollette. Blaine received from 1692 precincts, 267,575; Bentley, Independent Democrat, 38,556 and Arnold, Socialist, 35,304.

The rest of the Republican ticket have overwhelming pluralities.

One Amendment Passed

Scattered returns on the proposed constitutional amendments indicate the defeat of the one which would permit cities to increase their indebtedness, also the proposition for sheriffs to succeed themselves. The proposed measure which would permit five-sixths of a jury sitting in civil cases to return a verdict, appeared to have been ratified.

Victor L. Berger, re-elected to Congress from the 5th district, feels confident he will be seated when he goes to Washington. When he was elected previously, he had been refused a seat. He feels that there is no more case against him since the supreme court ruled in his favor, over Judge Landis in whose court he was convicted of violation of the espionage law.

The Wisconsin congressional delegation will be comprised of ten Republicans and one Socialist, a loss of one Republican from the present status.

— THIS IS POTATO WEEK —

This week is known as State Potato Week, in order to help the farmer. Buy your winter's supply of potatoes this week. Most people are holding off and not buying potatoes. If every family in Wisconsin Rapids would buy just one bushel of potatoes this week think of the money that would go back to the farmer. The potato crop was a large one this year and they are cheap also, in many cases the farmer was not able to get the cost of digging an acre of potatoes when brought upon the market. Don't forget every bushel of potatoes bought this week means a great help to the farmer.

SEE BIG FUTURE IN BADGER STATE BUTTER INDUSTRY

Madison—Wisconsin has a great opportunity to spread more of the bread of the world.

H. L. Russell, dean of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, says so.

"The state already has the dairy cattle, the pasturelands, the crops, the climate, the dairymen, the buttermakers, and all of the other production facilities for a wonderful butter industry," he delares. The one greatest need, according to him, is to develop a special market for butter of high quality.

Transportation Available

Considered from the standpoint of transportation facilities, we are, he believes, in an extremely favorable position to market her product. Direct connection, both by rail and by boat, with the best and biggest markets, is available.

Dean Russell sees in federated creameries and orderly marketing methods, a cure for some of our dairy ills. He believes that thousands of dollars can be saved the dairymen of the state by employing these two agencies in disposing of the milk of the two million dairy cows constituting the cow population of the Badger state.

Favor Co-Op Creameries

That federated creameries are paying big dividends to their patrons, and making one of the most profitable investments for dairymen of Wisconsin, is the view held by H. C. Larson, secretary of the Wisconsin Buttermakers' Association.

"There is no question" he says, "but that cooperative creameries are paying more money to the farmers for a pound of butterfat."

Russell and Larson both point to Polk county as an example of what cooperation has done in supporting and pushing the dairy industry in Wisconsin and helping her to maintain the lead as the greatest of all dairy states.

Up in Polk county, every creamery is cooperative, and there are 20 creameries in Polk county. They produced last year, over 5,000,000 pounds of butter and will increase this output to 6,000,000 pounds this year, according to present reports.

These 20 cooperative creameries increased the butter returns to the dairymen of the county about $50,000. By shipping in carlots to the big eastern markets, at least $20,000 annually is saved the farmers in freight rates.

Hen Challenges Bee's Reputation For Industry

Madison—No longer can the busy bee lay such undisputed claim to the limelight as the outstanding example of industry. She must share this reputation with biddy and look carefully to her laurels if she does not have stronger competition than expected from this source.

Twenty-five Plymouth Rock pullets in the flock of the University of Wisconsin recently completed a fourteen day record with 241 eggs to their credit. These pullets were hatched in March and are of high production strain. Their sire is a full brother to a hen making an official record of 324 eggs in 12 months. One of their dams has already laid 231 eggs and still has one month to go to complete her first year's production. Several others are well over the 200 egg mark. Still another of the dams made a unique record by beginning December 31, 1921, and laying one egg a day for 38 consecutive days without a miss.

The record show, declares Mr. Halpin of the poultry department, that whenever any breed is carefully bred and fed for egg production, it can be made to lay very heavily.

New Oat Variety Produces Record Yield At Ashland

Ashland Junction—,Another member has been added to Wisconsin's oat family. It has been named "Forward" in honor of the state.

The new variety was developed at the branch station of the University of Wisconsin and is proving its right to the throne in Wisconsin's oat kingdom.

It outdistanced its nearest competitor by more than six and one half bushels to the acre in the present season's race, according to E. J. Delwiche, agronomist in charge of the plant located here.

A lead of 17½ bushels to the acre over Swedish Select, the variety of oats most commonly grown in this section, was easily attained by the "Forward."

The new variety has outyielded its nearest competitor four bushels to the acre over an eight-year period.

The original selection, from which "Forward" has been developed, was made at the Experiment Station here in 1911. Last spring over 300 bushels were distributed in Upper Wisconsin from the branch station alone. Besides this amount, several large growers also disseminated seed.

LIME PRODUCING RESULTS IN STATE

Madison, Wis.—"The farmers are falling in line with the liming idea," says Griffith Richards of the soils department of the University of Wisconsin. "It was only the general financial depression that kept them from using an unusual amount this year."

Mr. Richards is in charge of the lime extension work in the 26 southern counties of Wisconsin and has demonstration plots in ten of them These plots are run in cooperation with the county agents, the Smith Hughes agricultural high school teachers, and in some cases directly with the farmers.

The number of plots is being increased just as rapdily as is practical, and in a short time it is hoped to have a number of plots showing the worth of lime in each county.

"The lime is added just before the seeding of small grains, and clover or alfalfa is seeded with them," says Mr. Richards. "There has been a remarkable increase in the crops: the small grains show an increase of from five to twelve bushels per acre, and the clover from 500 to 1,900 pounds to an acre. In some cases the lime has not been the limiting factor, but phosphorus is also needed.

Reports from 20 of the 26 counties show that last year there were 9,000 tons of lime used, while in 1921 there were 6,000 tons. The soils department at the University tested twice as many samples of limestone this year as they did last year, reports Mr Richards.

This increase was taken care of by the local crushers, rather than by the large limestone crushing companies, for partial reports from the companies show a decrease for 1922.

"Local crushing is becoming a real factor in the liming industry, for the farmers can save at least a dollar a ton in all the sections and furthermore, the limestone is there to be hauled whenever it is convenient for the farmer," Richards says. "When the limestone is brought from one of the companies, it has to be hauled when it arrives.

"I am more than pleased with the situation," declares Richards. "for last year we had an attendance of over 4,000 t our 17 meetings, besides our field demonstrations. With better times coming the farmers will be using more lime."

Plan Highway Financing

Madison, Wis.—Highway construction and maintenance in Wisconsin for the present year will cost approximately $36,893,700, the legislative committee of the county boards association says in its summary of highway expenditures to be submitted to the county boards November 14.

County funds provide $19,351,600 of the total available money for highway expenditures in the state, town funds $10,329,800, state funds, $5,515,300 and federal funds $1,697,000, the report shows. This does not include funds expended on city streets which are raised in the municipalities.

County funds totalling $19,351,600 were raised for the following purposes: federal aid road construction $1,695,200 from a direct county tax; state aid roads, $3,214,700 from a direct county tax; state aid roads; $9,211,700 from bond issues; state highway maintenance, $371,900 from direct tax; county highway maintenance, $1,374,100 from direct tax; county highway maintenance $976,800 from motor vehicle fees; county aid, roads and bridges, $1,035,000 from a direct tax; machinery, supervision and miscellaneous $1,471,000 from a direct tax.

Towns raised $8,600,000 from a direct town tax for town road construction and maintenance; $1,035,000 from a direct tax for county aid roads and bridges and $694,000 from a direct tax for state roads.

The $5,515,300 raised by the state came from the following sources: federal aid road construction $1,700,000 from a direct state tax; federal aid construction, $711,000 from motor vehicle fees; state aid road construction, $785,000 from the state general fund; special large bridges, $100,000 from the general fund; state highway maintenance, $2,051,100 from motor vehicle fees, state highway commission, $168,000 from motor vehicle fees.

Federal funds of $1,697,000 came from federal taxes, the report shows.

The cost of maintaining the state trunk hgihway system is supposed to be paid by the state out of motor vehicle fees." The report says. "A's a matter of fact, this is not sufficient for the purpose and additional funds are being raised from year to year by the counties through tax levies. This maintenance will cost approximately $2,422,900 on 1922 of which the state will furnish $2,051,000 out of county taxes levied on real and personal property.

Profits Ahead For Owners Of Sheep In State

Madison—There are only two-thirds as many flocks of sheep in the state as in 1920.

That is the estimate of Frank Kleinheinz, veteran shepherd of the University of Wisconsin of Wisconsin and he regards as conservative this rating of the reduction of the past year. He is certain, too, that breeders and feeders are waking up to the fact that the low prices of wool and mutton last year have made striking ravages on the lamb crop, and many feedlots will have a "lonesome" appearance due to the inability to get thin western stock.

Three principal markets report a decrease in supply for the period last year. This was due chiefly to the depletions of breeding flocks and unfavorable physical conditions in the northwest at lambing time. Of this decrease Chicago recorded 550,000; Omaha 305,000; and Kansas City 210,000. At intervals recently Kansas City has been without sufficient sheep to make a market.

Last year feeders in the cornbelt either could not buy feeding lambs or were afraid to buy them. This year they have been paying fat lamb prices for feeders and clamoring for more.

"Discouraged over the long wool slump, Wisconsin breeders sold their flocks and young breeding ewes when prices were good last winter," says Kleinheinz. "Now men going back into the sheep industry are being forced to pay high prices for breeding stock. The future for the man with a good flock is certainly very bright."

Test Associations Needed To Furnish Facts On Costs

Madison, Wis—The dairymen's first need is to have facts on milk costs if he is to successfully carry on his business, the Wisconsin College of Agriculture advises in a bulletin published today. This need, it says, has been partially met by the 70 cow-testing organized in the state.

"Profits in the production of milk depend on the difference between the costs and the selling price," the bulletin adds. "The dairymen's first need is to have facts on milk costs, because his profits depend entirely on the extent to which he can produce below his selling price.

"It is possible to obtain more complete dairy cost figures by supplementing the work of the present cow testing associations. Associations using a more comprehensive plan for study may be distinguished from the ordinary testing association by the term milk testing cost association.

The college bulletin gives in detail the methods for determining milks costs and outlines for the farmers a plan for ascertaining the cost of keeping each cow and the return it gives in milk.

Urge Consumers To Put In Winter Spud Stocks

Merchants of Wisconsin Rapids are cooperating with the state department of markets in encouraging the sale of potatoes this week, proclaimed as State Potato Week by Governor Blaine.

The purpose of setting aside a "Potato Week" is to encourage householders to put in supplies of potatoes for the winter at the present time while the market is flooded and farmers are having difficulty in disposing of their crops. In this way it is expected that not only will consumers obtain their potatoes at low prices, but farmers will be aided in disposing of their crops before winter comes

The chief importance is attributed to the movement in the larger centers where hundreds of car loads of potatoes are standing on the tracks awaiting buyers, but it is pointed out that much can also be accomplished by consumers near the growing districts purchasing their supplies for the winter.

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT PETERSON TELLS HOW COUNTY WIDE TEST WILL AID DAIRY INDUSTRY

BY R. A. PETERSON

Approximately one out of every four hogs and a liberal percentage of the cattle shipped from Wisconsin farms to packing plants are tuberculous. Other states have even more tuberculosis among cattle. Packers protect themselves against losses by lowering prices, and, conequently Wisconsin farmers annually lose approximately $2,900,000. Buyers are avoiding untested cattle and pay higher prices for cattle from herds tested in their entirety. An increase of ten cents per hundred pounds is offered by packers for hogs coming from farms having accredited herds, or from tuberculosis free areas. This increase would have added $884,000 to the receipts of Wisconsin farmers. Wood county's share of this would have amounted to $12,000.

It is evideont that bovine tuberculosis is a great economic loss; it is also a menace to the health of the human family. Twenty-five per cent and more of tuberculosis among children under sixteen years of age is of the bovine type. The above facts backed up by the investigations of men of authority point out the need for the tuberculin test by every cattle owner in Wisconsin.

Considerable work has already been done in Wood county relative to getting the signature of the cattle owners of the county on the petitions for the county wide test. It is necessary to have the signatures of at least sixty per cent of the farmers of the county in order to have the county test. The larger part of the necessary signatures have already been obtained and petitions are still in the hands of the progressive farmers who are boosting for the county cleanup. Indications are that the required sixty per cent will have been obtained so that the testing can be started early in the spring. A large number of herds have already been tested, many of them are on the federal accredited list. A number of other cattle owners have also made application for the federal test. Practically all of the dairymen supplying milk to the retail markets of Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield have had their herds tested for tuberculosis. The percentage of tubercular cattle that have been found in these herds has been rather low. The tests made thus far indicate that the percentage of reactors in Wood county will be comparatively low, averaging well with that of the fifteen Wisconsin counties that have already had the county wide tests. The precentage of reactors in these counties has in most cases been less than one percent. A test in time save nine, however, so it behooves Wood county to adopt the county wide program as soon as possible.

Wood county livestock interests are considerable and the future of that industry should be protected by having the present foundation stock tested in order that the tubercular animals are removed. Many dairymen are delaying the program by their indifference, not signing up and there by supporting the project, but by saying, "Well I'll not sign up but I'll test if the rest do." It is hoped that every dairyman in Wood county will awaken to the need for the test and get his name on the petition as soon as he can. Someone said, "Be not the first by whom the new is tried not yet the last to lay the old aside."
